San Franciscan Overruled In Ferry Priority Demand

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

A plan for the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District to go into the commute bus business yesterday got its first official reaction — and won almost unanimous endorsement from the Tri-Partite Transportation Committee.

The only dissenter in the 4-1 vote, however, came from a politically powerful source, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors.

Supervisor Jack Morrison, the only San Franciscan representative present at the committee meeting in bridge district offices, objected that if the bridge board approves the plan there then may be too little money left over for ferryboats.

The San Francisco supervisors, he noted, favor both ferries and buses, but insist that ferries get the first priority. The Marin County Board of Supervisors has put the first priority on buses.

"I'm not certain the bridge district should go ahead alone and jump into the transit business," said Morrison.

The plan, presented last Friday by the district's former chief engineer, Arthur C. Jenkins, is yet to be reviewed in committee hearings by district directors. The position of the San Francisco supervisors is bound to have an impact on the bridge board's decision, since the supervisors appoint eight of the bridge board's 18 members, and they serve at the pleasure of the supervisors.

Bridge director Lowell Edington of Napa County, who made the successful motion endorsing Jenkins' plan, argued against Morrison's contention that the bridge board should not act until the $45,000 study of ferry boats is completed in May. The study is being financed by Marin and San Francisco.

Bridge funds are adequate to subsidize both a bus and a ferry system, and to build a second deck, he said, adding that bridge tolls may have to be hiked to do all three.

Even if ferries prove feasible, said Dale W. Luehring, general manager of the bridge district, it would take two to three more years to get a ferry system underway, by which time another four to six million vehicles will be crossing the bridge a year. The present load is almost 31 million.

"By all odds," said Luehring, "we'd need buses anyway to serve a ferry system. It's a question of who can best stand up to bat and make progress," he added.

Voting for Edington's motion were Marin Supervisors Michael Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., Joseph E. Sheeks of Belvedere and Edington. Sheeks is an appointee of the Marin supervisors to the bridge board, and represents the bridge board on the committee.

The committee was formed more than three years ago to try to improve bus transportation across the Golden Gate. San Francisco supervisors Ronald Pelosi and William C. Blake were absent.

Jenkins' plan calls for the district to operate a system of 150 buses. To get it under way would cost $8.5 million, and the annual subsidy from bridge funds would be $1,411,100, Jenkins estimated.

The system, which would be set up under close cooperation with Western Greyhound Lines, would operate in Marin, San Francisco, Sonoma, and Napa counties.

Luehring reported to the committee yesterday that the current district surplus is $11.5 million, some of which probably will be needed for bridge tolls. The present load is almost 31 million.

Teacher Fuss Grows Hotter At San Jose

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Strike-plagued San Francisco State College enjoyed relative calm yesterday, while tension mounted at San Jose State College 50 miles to the south.

A group of about 350 striking students and union teachers maintained a picket line at the San Francisco campus and taunted students who crossed it to attend classes. A small contingent of police made two arrests, but there was none of the usual violence.

At San Jose State, however, militant students and members of the American Federation of Teachers, acting in sympathy with their fellow groups in San Francisco, paraded across the campus and through the administration building chanting "On strike, shut it down."

POLICE CALLED

Police were called to the campus three times to remove demonstrators trying to block vehicles from entering the campus, but there were no arrests.

San Jose president Robert D. Clark announced that striking faculty members who are absent from the classroom for five days are subject to automatic resignation.

Clark's action was the same as that taken under the state education code last week by acting president S. I. Hayakawa of San Francisco State.

DENIES CHARGE

Clark said the walkout by San Jose members of the AFT was "unwarranted" because it caused students to suffer and might lead to disruptive student behavior.

The San Jose president also denied charges of racism leveled by an AFT spokesman against college administrators, and listed several recent accomplishments to aid minority students.

The two arrests at San Francisco State yesterday included a student accused of malicious mischief for attempting to plug toilets in the Education Building, and a man accused of "soliciting aims" near the administration building.

In another development at San Francisco State, 400 of 800 stu-

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker agreed to hear further argument today on the vital constitutional issue raised which could save Sirhan from the gas chamber although the defense contended he killed Robert F. Kennedy.

Mrs. Arlene Alvidrez, a middle-aged clerk in a hardware firm, was undergoing questioning late yesterday as a prospective juror when defense lawyer Grant Cooper asked if she had conscientious objections to capital punishment.

S.F. STATE DEBATE

Professors Hold Home Rule Vital

By FRANK FARRARA

A call for campus home rule rang out last night as two San Francisco State College faculty members, who disagreed on how to achieve that home rule, spoke on the state college crisis.

They appeared before an overflow crowd of about 200 persons, including a fair share of college-aged youths, at the Mill Valley Forum in Mill Valley City Hall.

Henry McGuckin, associate dean of the School of Humanities and a member of the negotiating committee of the American Federation of Teachers, ripped into rule by state college trustees.

Thomas Zilka of Mill Valley, a member of the Faculty Senate and former chairman of the Engineering Department, spoke for change through communication, not by strike.

State trustees have been unwilling to delegate "meaningful power to local campuses," declared McGuckin, a strong advocate of faculty powers.

It will be impossible to solve campus problems unless "those of us who are there and have communication with the students" participate in solving them, McGuckin said.

Despite the turmoil of the past two months at San Francisco

Sonoma President Agrees To Part Of Black Demands

By BONNIE BARD

The Black Students Union discussed a list of 19 demands with Sonoma State College President Dr. Ambrose R. Nichols Jr. yesterday, among them the development of a black studies department.

Dr. Nichols assured the students this demand could be met. "As in any department in the college, they would have full autonomy in selecting the faculty," he said.

The president said another demand that a degree be granted for the programs could be met. "When a department is created, there will be nothing to prevent the granting of a degree," he said.

Dr. Nichols said he could support those goals and agreed that a "revolution" in education is necessary. He said the problem will come in working out details of the department and putting it down on paper.

Teen Center Study Called By Interact

Representatives of a dozen groups are expected at a day-long youth conference Saturday at San Rafael High School.

The meeting, from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the school library, will focus on establishing a youth center in San Rafael.

Rick Haenggi, president of Interact, a student service club which is sponsoring the meeting, said adult representatives are expected from school district administration, the city parks and recreation department, the Council of Churches, the Young Men's Christian Association, the police department, city council, board of supervisors and the human rights department.

Student groups sending representatives are Youth Power and Switchboard of Marin, as well as the Santa Clara Youth Village, Haenggi said.

Representatives of Rotary Club, which sponsors Interact, are also expected, he reported.

The meeting will open with a presentation of ideas and representatives will then split into small groups to discuss goals, Haenggi said. In the afternoon, ways to achieve the goals will be discussed and a plan of action is expected to be adopted, he said.

School Honors King's Memory

A special assembly in memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was held yesterday at Martin Luther King School in Sausalito on King's 40th birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Eleanor Spells, sixth grade teacher who was with Rev. King for several years in his Montgomery, Ala., church spoke about her work with him. Rev. Don Schilling of St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church, Marin City, also spoke and there was a program of singing by a choir and the students.

Some students, who had their parents' written permission, were excused in the afternoon after attending for the minimum school day, Principal Robert Thomson said.

Thomson said "a couple of parents" wrote him objecting to excusing classes, but he added that most pupils attended for a full school day.

Gold Fever In Small Village

GOIS, Portugal (AP) — There's a gold rush atmosphere in this small village in the center of Portugal.

A gold streak was found nearby, would-be prospectors are flocking to the local registration offices and the town folk are dreaming of boom times.

Local inhabitants are hoping the find does as much for the town as the discovery of tungsten here did 26 years ago.

This is not the first time gold has been found in these parts. There is even a gold mine near Gois, but the company that owns it discontinued mining long ago because of the small profits.

Now the word is that the new discovery can lead to considerable exploitation, and might even prove important for the national economy.

Larkspur Police Book Suspect In Robberies

A 22-year-old Pacifica man, suspected of one Larkspur armed robbery and formally charged with another, was booked into Marin County Jail last night by Larkspur police.

Larkspur Police Chief Howard Clark said Daniel Thomas Stathos has been accused in Marin Municipal Court with the Oct. 28 robbery of Greenbrae Lanes on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Stathos is also suspected of the $1,000 robbery July 12 from objectives we seek in Southeast Asia.

"Second, we must be patient and face the hard fact that fighting is likely to continue as the negotiations are carried forward."

"Third, we should be confident that an honorable peace is possible if we here at home remain steady."

In Saigon, Foreign Minister Tran Chanh Thanh insisted the talks will be two-sided—the United States and Saigon vs. Hanoi and the Viet Cong's front.

"This is the nearest we could get to the two sides we have been fighting for," Thanh said. "It looks like a victory if you go back to the original North Vietnamese demand for a four-sided conference."

Two rectangular tables for secretaries will flank the round table at a distance of about 18 inches, and Thanh suggested these are sufficient to satisfy Saigon's demand for two-sided talks since they indicate a division between the allied and Hanoi-Viet Cong negotiators.

The provisions of the deal are:

1. The new negotiating sessions will be held at a round table but the round table will be blanketed by two rectangular tables at opposite points and about 18 inches away from the round table.

2. There are to be no flags or name plates in the conference hall, a provision which avoids special identification of the NLF as if its delegation represented a government instead of a revolutionary force inside South Vietnam.

3. The speaking arrangements will be that each delegation on one side speaks in order and then each delegation on the other.

Diplomats refer to this as the "AA, BB" formula. This means that if the United States speaks first, South Vietnam speaks second and then the two representatives on the other side speak.

Had the agreement not been reached with the North Vietnamese the whole problem of opening the new round of talks would have gone over to the Nixon administration. Now the new president will be in position to move forward on the substance of the talks—such issues as arrangements for troop withdrawal and the future of South Vietnam.

The use of a round table and nearby rectangular tables recalled a similar agreement made at the outset of Big Four talks on Germany at Geneva in 1959. Representatives of West Germany and communist East Germany were invited to attend but not as full participants along with the U.S., Britain, Russia and France.

Student Sets Himself Ablaze

PRAGUE (AP) — A 21-year-old student poured inflammable material on himself today and set himself ablaze on Wenceslas Square, Prague radio reported.

The student, identified only by the initials J.B., was taken to a hospital for treatment of serious burns.

A student who claimed to have seen the burning said the youth held a placard saying: "Against Communist Despotism."

Prague radio said quick action by a trolley dispatcher snuffed out the flames on the youth's clothing.

Pedestrian Paths' Upgrading Studied

The Almonte Improvement Club board agreed last night to investigate the possibility of the club improving pedestrian paths in the Almonte area, president Kenneth N. Nelson reported.

Nelson said residents have complained that the paths, owned by the county, are nearly impassable, forcing school children to walk to bus stops along narrow hillside streets. The paths connect the streets, Nelson said.

Americans, had also been involved in planning.

Some BSU students objected to having their proposed department affiliated with the Mexican ethnic group.

"We don't want an ethnic studies department—we want a black studies department," Wagner said. "That would just be a pacification plan to put us off for a while."

When it was suggested that an ethnic studies division could be developed to include both a black studies department and a Mexican studies department, the BSU split in opinion. Wagner and several other members said such a plan might be workable since it would assure a separate department. Other BSU members objected strenuously to the suggestion.

Stathos, who is reportedly also wanted for questioning about other robberies in San Francisco, El Cerrito, San Pablo and Sacramento, was held in lieu of $25,000 bail today.

He was brought to Marin from Sacramento, where he was facing another robbery charge, Chief Clark said. He was to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 2 p.m. today.

Hoefler, also charged with the Greenbrae Lanes robbery, is being held in Sonoma County Jail, authorities said.

ents living in the school's campus dormitory signed a petition protesting the quality of food being served there.

The housing office admitted there was a difficulty because workers who normally prepare the meals are on strike also. The office offered to reimburse the students who had paid for their meals in advance.

Two minority groups, the Black Students Union and the Third World Liberation Front, went on strike Nov. 6 to back 15 demands.

The AFT, representing 350 of San Francisco State's 1,300 faculty members, struck Jan. 6 in support of educational reforms and serious consideration of the student demands by the college administration.

On another scene Sacramento State College supporters of striking San Francisco State teachers said they would demonstrate today at a speech by San Francisco State acting president S. I. Hayakawa, following a brief eruption of violence yesterday at Sacramento State.

Hayakawa was set to address a luncheon meeting of the State Chamber of Commerce at the Hotel El Dorado.

Glenn Dumke, chancellor of the California State Colleges, was also to speak to the chamber.

Tighter Curfew Asked For Park In Larkspur

The Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission last night recommended to the city council that an ordinance be adopted to close Doliver Park at sunset during the fall and winter, and at 8 p.m. during the summer.

The curfew proposal came after complaints of hippie vandalism in the park, Robert C. Bundy, park and recreation director, had declared that present rules on park use are vague, that a 7 p.m. curfew has often been ignored because of long summer evenings.

The commission also agreed to notify the council that the dilapidated Eastman Hall at 209 Williams Avenue is no longer used by the park and recreation department and could be destroyed. The building is city-owned.

Bundy said the commission is considering a proposal that a temporary or permanent building be erected at Piper Park for a community center, but details have not been worked out.

55-Unit Apartment Unit Due Discussion

A proposed 55-unit apartment unit in Santa Venetia will be discussed at a meeting of the Galina Village Community Services District board at 7:30 p.m. today at John MacPhail School.

The original request for the apartment permit, opposed by the district, was denied by the Marin County Planning Commission. However, it is expected to be appealed to the board of supervisors.

Franksters Turn On Fire Hydrants

Youthful franksters last night turned on fire Mill Valley fire hydrants, flooding streets briefly before the fire department arrived to turn the hydrants off.

Firemen reported hydrants at 8th and 3rd Street Avenue, 202 Holmes Lane and at the corner of Sarpy and Galdor Avenue were turned on between 8:30 and 9:30 p.m.

Task Force Sets Helping Mothers As Main Goal

A citizens task force to study the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program agreed last night that its main goal should be to work for the education, employment and for services for AFDC mothers.

Mrs. Lottie Mae Reed of San Rafael, chairman of the task force, said services would include such items as housing, child care, and transportation to help mothers gain economic independence.

Seventeen members of the task force met last night in the Civic Center.

The ADPC task force also:

MINORITY REPORTS

Decided that any "minority report" by task force members should be presented to the task force for discussion before it is presented to the county supervisors. On Dec. 10, Mrs. Winifred S. Frederick, a task force member, gave a personal report to the supervisors first.

TARGET DATE

Set June 30, as the date to conclude 30 subcommittees.

MEETING DATE

Decided to meet on the first Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. in Room 400 of the Civic Center. In the past, the meetings were held on Wednesday nights.

VACANCIES

Will ask the county supervisors to fill six vacancies on the 30-member group.

Housing Group Membership Is Given A Boost

Membership in the Ecumenical Association for Housing-Marin County swelled to 15 last night with the addition of three more groups.

Pledging the $200 membership fee were Faith Lutheran Church, Terra Linda, Redwoods Presbyterian Church, Corte Madera, and the Marin Committee for Fair Play, according to Martin Mackey, secretary-treasurer of the organization.

The association was established to facilitate construction and rehabilitation of housing for low and moderate income families in Marin under a federal law passed last year.

Projects will be discussed at the first formal meeting of the group scheduled for 8 p.m. next Wednesday at the Civic Center.

Airman Accused Of AWOL Flees Base Custody

An airman being held at Hamilton Air Force Base as absent without leave from Sawyer Air Force Base, Mich., last night walked away from the minimum security stockade, according to Hamilton officials.

They identified him as John B. Corcoran, six feet tall, of slender build, weighing 140 pounds, with brown hair and eyes. He was wearing a red plaid shirt and brown slacks and shoes.

Corcoran about 7:30 said he was going to the lavatory to shave, taking a towel and razor. When he did not return to his barracks at 8 p.m. a search was started, according to base officials.

The airman was picked up by Oakland police on Jan. 9 and brought to Hamilton when it was learned that he was listed AWOL since July 27 from his base in Michigan.

Three Held In Cosmetics Firm Break-In

Three men were caught by police early today after allegedly breaking into a San Rafael cosmetics firm. Two of the suspects said they worked for the company.

The three were booked on suspicion of burglarizing Synergistic Industries, 25 Tiburon Street, and for investigation of conspiring to commit the crime.

The two who told police they worked for the firm are Thomas J. Smith, 21, of 12 Laurel Place, San Rafael, and Raymond E. Lockhart, 21, of 1495 Casa Buena Drive, Corte Madera. Also booked was Jerry N. Okuma, 28, of 260 Merrydale Road, San Rafael.

Police said entrance was apparently gained through a roof hatch believed left unlocked by Smith or Lockhart.

A neighbor who went to quiet some barking dogs shortly after midnight noticed three men lowering something from the roof of the building and called police.

Smith, Lockhart and Okuma were found in a field about a block away and police also found typewriters, adding machines and boxes of Synergistic products in the alley behind the building.

In Death King Is Honored In Georgia

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., received tribute in death that he was never given in life when the Georgia Senate applauded some of those closest to him.

It was part of ceremonies commemorating what would have been King's 40th birthday yesterday.

Sen. Horace Ward, who attended Northwestern University instead of the University of Georgia because he is a Negro was applauded when he extolled King as a great man of the time.

But not all of the birthday ob-

County Facing Suit Over Death

A Novato couple filed a half-million dollar damage claim against Marin County yesterday for the traffic accident death of their daughter last November.

The claim, filed with the county board of supervisors, is a legal step required before formal suit is filed in court.

Gail M. Sturgeon, 19, of 178 San Felipe Way, Novato, suffered critical injuries in a nine-car accident on Puerto Suello Hill last Oct. 12. She was a passenger in a car driven by Susan Rippin of 2065 Mill Road, Novato. Miss Sturgeon died Nov. 18.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sturgeon, contend that the county was responsible for the dangerous conditions of the highway at Puerto Suello Hill. They seek $500,000 general damages plus $13,533 for medical and hospital expenses and $1,100 for funeral expenses.

Minnesota Sit-In, Illinois Fight Latest Flareups On Campuses

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A band of about 100 Negro and white students ended yesterday a 24-hour seizure of the administration building at the University of Minnesota while protest flareups continued on other campuses. (California campuses story, page 1.)

At Minneapolis, members of the Afro-American Action Committee and supporters quit Morrill Hall after their representatives and university officials reached an agreement on some student demands.

University President Malcolm C. Moos said he agreed to develop a curriculum this year leading to a degree in Afro-American studies, to provide some of the university's nonpublic funds to help finance a national conference of black students there next month, and to have more Negro representation on the board which controls the Martin Luther King Jr. scholarship fund.

Earlier in the day, several hundred white students demanded entry into Morrill Hall. Police arrived after the sit-ins had left the building by underground tunnels.

Vice President Donald K. Smith said a quick inspection showed "very little physical damage" but that the building "is a mess" because office furniture was shoved around to block entrances.

At Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass., five Negro girls swept library books about in disorder and forced an assistant out into the cold without her coat.

Afterwards, 2,000 persons walked two and one-half miles to a groundbreaking ceremony for the $2.5 million Martin Luther King Jr. village, a low rent housing project.

Mrs. King earlier in the day announced two memorials to her slain husband—one near his church. The other, near Atlanta University Center where he attended Morehouse College, will be the Institute for Nonviolent Social Change, an Institute for Afro-American Studies, a library and archives and a museum of Afro-American life and culture.

The library and the institute for Afro-American Studies will cost $25 million to $40 million at the outset. The money is coming from donations and foundation grants.

Details of the memorial near the church were not announced.

Sen. Edward M. Brooke, R-Mass., the only Negro in the U.S. Senate offered a resolution to designate Jan. 15 as a day to recognize King's accomplishments.

At St. Cloud, Minn., State College, a white student and a teacher filed complaints against a Negro organization for allegedly breaking the institution's antidiscrimination rule.

George Ashfield, 22, of St. Paul, said he was refused membership in the Black Student Union for Racial Equality because he is white. Richard Martin, journalism department chairman, told a college commission the group is "clearly a racist organization."

At Queens college in New York City, where black militants during the past two weeks have been staging disturbances in a dispute over the handling of student assistance funds, a group of 181 teachers announced support of the program director, Joseph P. Mulholland.

At Pullman, Wash., last night, an estimated 20 Negroes entered a fraternity house near the Washington State University campus. During the ensuing fight, a rifle shot was fired into a wall by one of the intruders. Four students received minor cuts and bruises.

A university spokesman said that some of the intruders were identified as Washington State students. He said the incident apparently stemmed from a dispute at an intermural basketball game some time ago.

Outside Failures May Yet Be A Boon To Marin City

Donald O. Stutsman, executive director of the Marin County Housing and Redevelopment Agency, said today the failure of outside developers in Marin City may prove a boon to the community.

"We have not prosecuted our work as effectively as we might have," Stutsman said in reference to a contract the redevelopment agency holds with California Development Corp. to provide business and homes in Marin City. "But perhaps it's good we had this degree of failure."

"Had we built out in Marin City before voices of the community were heard, then the community might have been much less socially and economically sound in the future."

As it is, Stutsman said, the future of redevelopment looks bright because of increased community participation in Marin City planning and because of a formal agreement reached last night between California Development Corp. and Development Corp. of Marin

City to permit the local corporation to develop 2.5 acres of land for a shopping center.

Marin City's social and economic progress was discussed by Stutsman and other panelists today on the Sounding Board program on radio KTIM.

The program, moderated by Kit Oppenheimer, will be repeated on tape at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Rev. Samuel Banks, chairman of the Marin City Council; Richard Adams, attorney for the California Development Corp., and Charles Story, executive director of the Marin City Community Services District, lauded a new spirit of cooperation toward community improvement as a result of the agreement between Cal Development and the local group.

Banks denied that members of community organizations pushing local redevelopment were seeking "personal gain."

Adams said California Development had not fulfilled redevelopment goals because of the reluctance of financers to back homes than won't sell.

Surf Grabs Trio; Youngster Dies

HALF MOON BAY (UPI)—A huge wave swept a Redwood City mother and her two young sons into the surf yesterday drowning one of the boys.

Mrs. David Schriener told authorities she was walking along Francis Beach with her sons Kurt, 2, and Richard, 4, when the breaker knocked them off their feet. She and Richard were able to get back to shore but the undertow carried the younger boy beyond their reach.

A Coast Guard helicopter later recovered the boy's body about 50 yards off shore.

Vandals Hit Three San Rafael Houses

Vandalism to three recently completed homes at McNear and Woodside drives, San Rafael, was reported yesterday to police by Clinton J. Barzeal, building superintendent for Perma Built Enterprises, contractors.

He said windows and doors in three houses were broken, with total damage estimated at $180.

Marin City Shop Center Plan Speeded

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency last night unanimously approved a memorandum of agreement clearing the way for a local corporation to develop 2.5 acres of commercial property in Marin City.

The agreement between California Development Corp. and the Development Corporation of Marin City gives the Marin City group a year to build a one-acre shopping center and two years to develop the other 1.5 acres.

The agreement proposes the community itself sponsor 77 units of moderate-income housing through the development corporation or other nonprofit organization. It also suggests ownership of 56 existing Oak Knolls apartments might be transferred to the community's nonprofit group.

The agency last night approved changes in its agreement with California Development Corp., to carry through the changeover. The land agreement also altered the deadlines when California Development can take title to other undeveloped land in the Marin City redevelopment area. The deadline was moved up from Dec. 31 to June 30, 1969, for title to land marked for 169 apartments, 27 townhouses and 39 houses. Deadline was moved from June 1 to May 1, 1969, for title to the previously mentioned 77 units of moderate income housing.

Richard Adams, California Development's representative announced the company is changing its name to Marin Development Co. He also said a consultant firm, Ergonomics, which has worked on the East Coast bringing black business and industry into areas, will work with the company here. A representative of Ergonomics, Benjamin Swan, will live in Marin City and represent the firm here, Adams said.

Burglary, Narcotics Charges Face Teener

James Wade, 16, of 105-B Shaver Street, San Rafael, yesterday was booked into Juvenile Hall by Mill Valley police on suspicion of the Jan. 7 burglary of Vogue Cleaners, 77 Miller Avenue, and narcotics possession.

Police said nothing was taken during the break-in which was apparently interrupted by a police patrol before the store safe was opened.

Authority To Upgrade Maintenance Division

The maintenance department of the Marin County Housing Authority will be reorganized to provide better groundskeeping in Marin City, Marin City Mgr. Melvin Randolph told the housing authority board last night.

Unkempt grounds were among the main complaints of public housing tenants in a recent questionnaire.

Randolph said each maintenance man will be responsible for a specific area and assignments will be juggled for more frequent maintenance.

The authority has also asked tenants not to pack cars on the lawns and not to dump trash in parking lots. Trash barrels have been removed from the lots to discourage dumping, Randolph said.

Administrative assistant Donald Newmark submitted his resignation last night. He will leave Feb. 10 to become an urban planner in San Mateo County.

The Marin Housing Authority Also:

REDUCED HOURS — Placed Advance, a self-help organization which had an office in Building C-64 and folded last Police launched a search for Loyd's brother-in-law, Alvin Norman, 22, who they say had a fight with the victim last week. Officers said Norman's apartment was ransacked early yesterday and Norman blamed Loyd.

Federal Oil Aide

Firing Demanded

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman demanded today dismissal of an official of the Oil Import Administration whom he accused of soliciting support within the oil industry for a government promotion.

Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., said Thomas C. Snedeker, assistant chief of the Oil Import Administration, sent a letter to oil industry executives asking them to support him for the top job in the agency.

Conte, in a speech prepared for the House, said Snedeker's actions "call for his disqualification from any further service with the Oil Import Administration."

The congressman said Snedeker admitted writing the letters, but said they were sent mainly to people in trade associations.

Baar Wants Welfare Aid Photographs

New Supervisor Louis H. Baar wants a Polaroid snapshot of all general relief recipients to help him determine whether welfare aid should be granted.

But the county counsel said today he doubts county supervisors have the legal authority to require a general relief recipient to be photographed as a condition of eligibility.

Baar's request for photographs of relief recipients came late Tuesday during the supervisors' weekly review of general relief cases. Baar said a picture of the recipient would help him determine whether aid should be granted.

Chairman John F. McInnis and Supervisors Michael Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. were opposed to the snapshot idea.

"I am personally opposed to it because, frankly, I just want the factual information on each applicant, which we now get," said McInnis. "I don't want to be influenced by the appearance of a person, which is subject to change on an hour's notice."

The supervisors turned the matter over to the county administrator to check on legality.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said that his offhand opinion is that "a person's general appearance or physiognomy has no relationship to his indigency or eligibility for general relief."

Maloney added that the only possible exception might be persons who are otherwise eligible to work but have limited their employment opportunities by bizarre or unusual attire.

"However, the Marin Department of Public Social Services assures me that this possibility is countered by other types of intensive review and is not a significant factor in the great bulk of cases which come before the board."

A formal opinion from Maloney will be presented to supervisors next Tuesday.

Navy Probing Cause Of Carrier Inferno

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — The U.S. Navy carried on with cleanup operations aboard the nuclear aircraft carrier Enterprise today as investigators sought to pin down the cause of explosions and fire which killed 25 crewmen and injured 85.

A 26th sailor was missing in the disaster which struck the 85,000-ton warship on a training exercise 75 miles southwest of Honolulu Tuesday.

Adm. John J. Hyland, commander of the Pacific fleet, said he was "confident that we are going to be able to establish exactly what did happen and what caused it."

The explosions and fire put the Enterprise, world's largest combat vessel, out of action until repairs are completed. No official source would guess how long this would take.

It was indicated that the ship would start back to its home port of Alameda as soon as possible.

In Honolulu's Tripler Army Hospital, 58 injured crewmen were still under treatment, four in serious condition. Another nine were flown to a special burns treatment center at Brooke Army Hospital in Texas.

The fire swept about 250 feet of the aft flight deck, destroying 15 planes loaded with bombs and rockets.

The vessel's propulsion system, which has eight nuclear reactors, was untouched.

The blaze followed a series of at least 10 explosions which ripped gaping holes in the flight deck. One left a gash 26 feet long and 24 feet wide, penetrating into three lower decks.

Most of the dead were members of crews preparing a launch of planes; the Navy said not one pilot was killed.

Lt. Cmdr. Perry Gard, 32, of Lemoore, a pilot, said he felt he was the concussion of the first explosion, looked up and saw a rising fireball.

"I sat there fascinated and wondering what was going on," he said. "Then it dawned on me that I had better get out of the plane."

In Tripler Army Hospital, Aviation Ordnanceman 2C Ronald N. Duden, 21, of St. Paul, Minn., said that after the first explosion he helped a pilot out of an A7 Corsair.

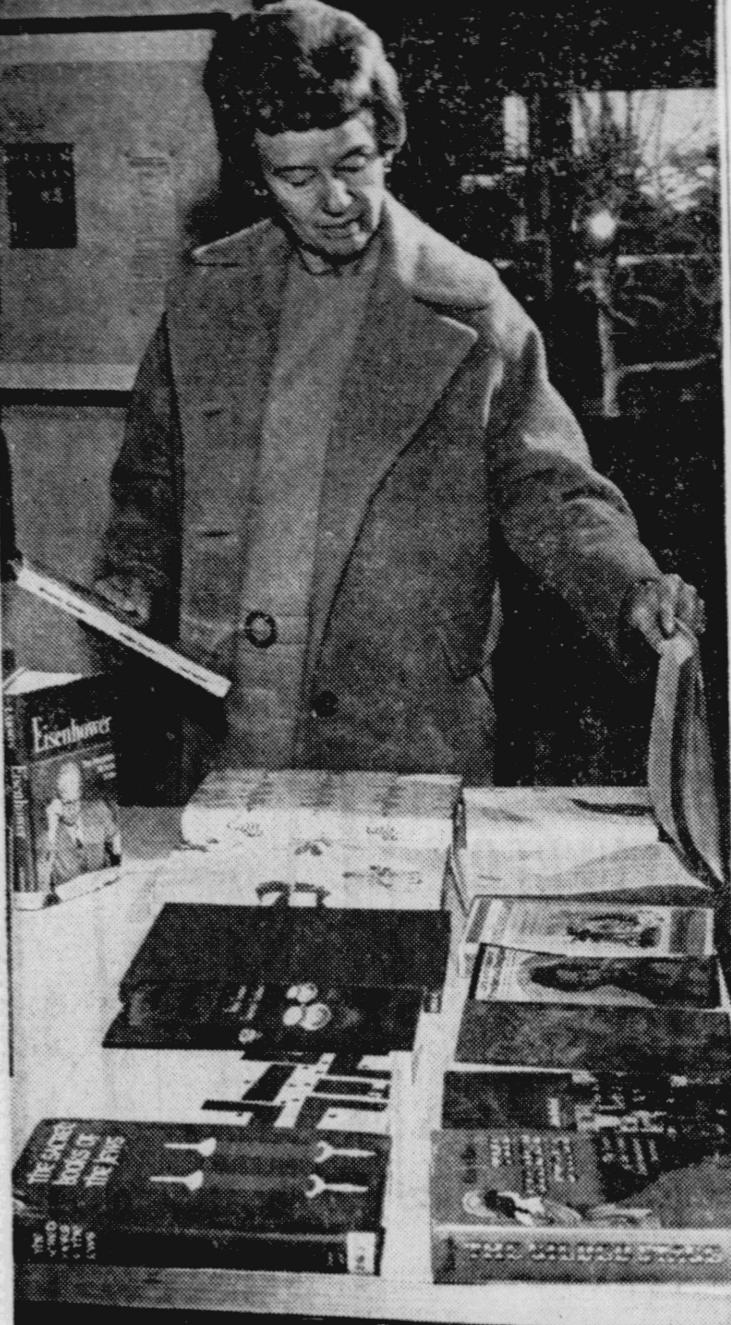

"I helped him to the catwalk, then picked up a fog foam hose to start fighting the fire and got knocked down several times by the explosions," Duden said.

Duden said he tried to move a "steaming Corsair loaded with rockets aimed down the flight deck, but it got too hot and we couldn't hold it."

"When it went, most of the rockets blew up where they were, but a couple went through the island. There were 500, 750 and 1,000 pound bombs on those planes."

Lt. Ronald Schneider, 25, of Washington, D.C., said he leaped out of his plane onto a catwalk. Cornered by a gush of burning fuel he jumped 65 feet into the water. He was picked up by a helicopter suffering from burns on his hands and face.

Softwoods are often used for inside parts of wood furniture to reduce costs.

A LOOK AT THE NEW BOOKS

A preview table of new books, set up at the San Rafael Library to give patrons a chance to examine and reserve books before they go into circulation, is inspected by Mrs. George Osofsky of Kentfield. Librarian Vivian Smith said each group of new books is left on the table for a week and library users are reserving them rapidly. Formerly, selections had to be made from a list of titles and it was difficult to tell what books were about, Mrs. Smith said.

Two Differing Election Reform Bills Submitted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two proposed constitutional amendments that would change the method of electing U.S. presidents are pending in the Senate.

One, introduced yesterday by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., would abolish the Electoral College and provide for election of the president and vice president by popular vote.

The other, introduced by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., would reform the Electoral College. To pass, either amendment would have to win a two-thirds majority vote in both houses of Congress, then be ratified by three-fourths of the state legislatures.

Under Bayh's proposal, the leading presidential ticket would have to receive more than 40 per cent of the total votes. If it didn't, a runoff election would be held between the top two tickets.

Ervin's proposal would divide the electoral votes of a state between the candidates in direct proportion to the number of popular votes each candidate received.

Black And White Ball Going Rock

By MOLLY MARIN

The Black and White Ball of the San Francisco Symphony Association is back this year with a leap into the rock scene. Set for March 15 at four San Francisco hotels, the ball will feature dancing to the smooth strains of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra itself, the ballroom sound of Ernie Heckscher and the super-rock of the Grateful Dead and Country Weather.

The symphony benefit has always had a Bay Area-wide appeal, with some 2,000 guests dancing at the hotels, and after four years' hiatus, will again see party-goers shuttled among the hotels in a fleet of buses during the evening. Special themes are being devised for party scene.

On the ticket committee for Marin are Mrs. David Faraday of Ross, chairman, and Mmes. Carl Brown, Malcolm Skall, Eliott Hayne, Robert Ohrenschall, A. Barlow Ferguson, Charles Eberle, J. Robert Nott, Caleb Cope, Robert Greene and Courtney Benoit, who will assist with ticket sales.

THE FRANK G. KINGS of Belvedere will welcome Ruth King's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Person of Memphis, Tenn., tomorrow.

The Persons will be in the Bay Area for the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament at Pebble Beach. Curtis is a nationally known golfer. Now playing the senior circuit, he won five major senior tournaments in the past year, including the U. S. Golf Association in Atlanta, Ga. For the past three years he has been named senior golfer of the year. During the weekend he will be playing with Frank King at the Meadow Club and the San Francisco Golf Club this weekend in preparation for the Crosby opening next Thursday.

Also joining the Kings for the golfing and social events in Pebble Beach will be Mr. and Mrs. Bert West, former Tiburon residents, who now live in Seattle. The Wests are moving back to the Bay Area soon and hope to take up residence in Belvedere.

DR. AND MRS. John B. Kendrick of San Rafael celebrated their 32nd wedding anniversary Friday evening by dining at Oreste's Restaurant and attending the symphony at the Opera House.

Teen Seamstress Vying In National Contest

Debra Kuck, 14, of Petaluma will be competing tonight in the national Make-It-Yourself-With Wool competition at the Hilton Hotel in San Francisco. As winner of the California MIYWW contest, Debra will compete with girls representing the 20 Sheep Councils throughout the United States for an all-expense-paid trip abroad this summer. Debra will model a tailored skirt and vest outfit and will be a guest of the California Wool Growers Association while in the city. Her chance for national competition came with the winning of the state MIYWW contest held in Stockton Sunday.

Sharing the spotlight in the senior division were Sharon Bonio, 18, and Shirley Bonio, 17, both of Novato. They were named third and fourth place winners respectively in the state competition.

Pals Turn Teens On To Drugs

By ESTELLE FORD

ATLANTA (UPI) — Who would be most likely to urge a youngster to take the first pep pill or first drag of marijuana? A physician? A drug pusher? Friends? Acquaintances?

If the answer were drug pusher it would be wrong.

In a unique text used in a pilot program in the Atlanta and Fulton County schools, the correct answer is friends.

Dr. Edward Sumner, associate professor of pharmacology at the University of Georgia, Athens, has written a book "Drugs—Their Use and Abuse in Our Society," the first attempt to provide schools with a programmed learning text on the subject.

The Atlanta city and Fulton County schools use it to teach pilot groups of young teenagers, the age group authorities feel are most susceptible to the mystery and fascination of drugs.

Rebecca Dinnard, head of health and physical education instruction for Fulton County Schools, said the problem has accelerated "since we've had the hippies with us," but that Dr. Sumner's approach has been one of sticking to facts, not frightening or exciting students with bugaboos about addiction and its effects.

"They've emphasized that we need to deal with this with medical facts," she said of Sumner and his assistant, Edward P. Turner, associate director of pharmaceutical services at the university.

"We don't need to do a lot of preaching or sermonizing, but give medical facts and what happens when a person plays around with drugs," she said.

"I don't think we have the heroin addicts and such that you find in most large cities," said Miss Dinnard. "It's abuse and misuse of over-the-counter-drugs—amphetamines and barbituates."

Dr. Sumner said the book has several pages of background on drugs, followed by pages of questions and answers.

"On the left side of each page will be a series of questions, and on the right side of the same page, the answers," he said.

An example: "True or false: All people who abuse drugs are poor, criminals and uneducated. Answer: False.

More Money

Today, Americans have $40 billion more to spend than they did just a year ago.

Since 1951, there's been a 51 per cent increase in personal income. The price of food in this same period is up less than 25 per cent.

One of the reasons things cost more today, and that of course includes food, is that the salaries and wages paid people who produce, handle, sell, insure and transport foodstuffs, have gone up.

People from all walks of life are involved."

The students, two classes in the county schools, and several more groups in the city schools, will be tested before and after the material is studied.

The school systems will use the book in the treatment of drug problems as part of a health course required for eighth graders.

The course, taught in a 60-day quarter, also includes instruction in sex, venereal disease, alcoholism and other social health problems which students have shown an interest in learning about.

Bare Skin Predicted

By Italian Designers

By LEONORA DODSWORTH

ROME (AP)—The Italian spring-summer fashion shows opening tomorrow promise to bare considerable of milady.

Those who favor bare skin form quite a colony. Tiziani promises lots on show, only lightly veiled by the flimsiest of sheers. Another advocate of the see-through look is Heinz Riva, with transparent evening gowns worn over form-fitting pants and skimpy bras. From the same house are city suits accompanied by nothing more than a matching bra in place of the usual blouse.

At Ognibene-Zendman, a black cotton trouser suit will feature daring cutouts. "My new collection will be just a little frivolous," says Valentino, Italy's big name fashion designer.

The showings will run to next Thursday, with 34 fashion houses presenting their latest creations. Menswear also will be on view as well as accessories, luggage and other fashion goodies.

Valentino, Mila Schon, Fabiani, Forquet and Capucci are just a few of the star-studded names on the seven-day program.

Valentino reveals that he will show a lighthearted line but refuses to elaborate. It is certain that the many wealthy women who are his clients will be vying with one another to snap up his "frivolities."

Most designers report they will show a fairly fitted line with plenty of emphasis on the waist. Belts will be important although the fad for the chain variety seems to be on the wane.

There will be plenty of pants. Now considered as much a part of the female wardrobe as coats or dresses, they will be shown for day and evening, teamed with hip-length jackets or flaring tunics.

IN ROMAN STRIPES

Generation Gap Is Perennial And Will Always Be Present

DEAR HELEN:
Cheers for the girl who doesn't believe there is really a generation gap, except the kind that has always been with us. I too believe that.

I came to college three and one-half months ago, and the thing I miss most about home is my 70-year-old girl friend, a next door neighbor. I love her.

I also miss my other neighbors, my parent's friends, and of course—my parents. I miss all the talks I used to have with my mother and dad, and the discussions with other adults. It is true that one can learn by others' experiences, and my "old" friends have plenty to tell.

I didn't think I'd every write to a column, but I want you to know I'm another teen who has crossed the generation gap.

—ALICE

DEAR ALICE:
You aren't alone. Read on.

DEAR HELEN:
Generation gap? I haven't had a real fight with my folks since I can remember. They don't hold at or around us, kids. They talk to us like adults and don't pick us apart.

The only fights at our house are between us kids, and our parents don't usually interfere unless a fracas starts to get out of hand. Then we're glad to have them break it up.

Another outstanding feature of my folks is that they trust us. So much, in fact, that for two years now they have left us alone for four or five days while they go on trips occasionally.

In return for their love and trust, we kids love and respect them. We wouldn't ever let them down. Helen, I don't know how many kids feel this way about their parents, but if they do, they should say so, loud and clear, so this yap about generation gap would quiet down.

Fellowship Offered In Social Services

Alpha Xi Delta, national social fraternity for women, is offering a graduate fellowship for advanced study in the field of social service; the grant to be $1,500. This annual award was first made in 1959.

Alpha Xi Delta is continuing to offer this fellowship because it concurs with most civic authorities and juvenile court officials that there is an increasing need for trained personnel to work with youngsters. Supporting this belief, preventing juvenile delinquency was chosen as the national philanthropy in 1958. To date, the fellowship has been given to 10 students.

Interested persons may obtain an application for this fellowship at this time by writing to Mrs. Robert F. Batchelder, national philanthropy chairman, 6186 Soledad Mountain Road, La Jolla. Completed applications should be returned to Mrs. Batchelder and postmarked no later than Jan. 31.

at school takes birth control pills. What use are they to him? Would they keep his date from getting pregnant?

NOT HIS DATE

If the boy takes the pill under his doctor's supervision, he is probably being treated for acne.

If he is taking them on his own, he may be a fast operator with the wrong information. There is no such thing as a sterilization pill for males.

DEAR HELEN:

I am living with my aunt as my divorced mother travels in her job. Mom sent me $300 for school. I spent $100 and asked my aunt to put the rest in the bank for me. I've been giving her $15 a week from my part-time job to bank for me too. I've kept track and I should have $525 in the bank. Well, I went to draw some money out the other day, and our joint savings account had exactly $85 in it. I asked my aunt and she said something came up she needed the money for, and besides, she was taking care of me, so I shouldn't mind. My mother pays her a good bit for my room and board. What should I do?

—POOR

Let's suppose your aunt is a borrower, not a thief. Suggest that she replace the money from the sum your mother sends her for your keep—and if she balks, your mother will hear of it.

Weight Control Classes Set For Ross Hospital

A new series of weight control classes will get under way Jan. 23 at Ross General Hospital from 7:30 to 9 p.m. The 12-week course, sponsored by the Marin County Heart Association, will be held each Tuesday evening, instructed by Pamela Gilroy, registered dietitian.

The series is planned for low calorie instruction in maintaining weight control.

Both men and women may register, upon physician referral, as a 1,200 calorie base will be used throughout the course. Based on previous class results, anticipated weight loss is expected to be one and one half pounds per week.

Shopping pointers for low calorie foods, cooking tips for meats and vegetables, dietary helps when eating out or when entertaining will be areas of course study. Members will also weigh in and chart progress.

Instruction will focus on food preparation around the whole meal pattern, selection of foods for varied menus and learning to adapt recipes for appealing meals while holding to low calorie count.

Sessions will also include films and tape recordings. Among scheduled speakers will be a physician noting dangers of overweight and diseases correlated to obesity. A physical therapist will demonstrate exercises for muscle tone and a personal grooming expert will give advice in his field.

Registration for class may be made with the Marin County Heart Association or registrants may enroll during opening night of the course.

Shirtwaist Of The '50s Back

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fashion designers finally reward all those women whose love for the shirtwaist look never faltered, even through the past seasons' inundations of skimmer and chemise and waistless silhouettes.

Belts are beaded, are self-fabric cummerbunds, are stone-studded cummerbunds, they're ropes and cords.

"In the current mood, if it fits round your waist wear it," is the way the couture group's summary of spring trends phrases it.

The whole shape for spring stresses the feminine, the summary continues, "the shaped body released for movement, the shirley look, the pulled-pants, the wrapped dresses, the tunics. Belts are fabrics, almost scarves in their size, wrapped, crushed, string, tied with tassel ends, made of metallic chains.

And that's for sure, on the statement about pants. They come in the form of daytime suits, as separates, as culotte legged numbers for daytime and evening wear, and in evening variations as opulent of fabric and jewelery as any ball gown.

It promises to be another blissful season for the nation's girl watchers.

Appraisals Sought On School Land

Supt. Clarence B. Larison has been authorized by the Bolinas-Stinson Union School District board to have appraisals made of property adjoining Bolinas School for possible purchase and school expansion.

The land is owned by Flood Longley and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Bourne.

Trustee Edward Z. Lewis, at the Tuesday meeting, was named to form a citizens committee to hear community opinion on the future direction of the district — whether new schools should be built, old ones renovated, portable classrooms used or the status quo maintained.

The board also adopted several policies, including one on handling of controversial issues in class. A student should be allowed free access to study issues about which, at his level, he should begin to form opinions, the policy said. The student also should be allowed to study in an atmosphere free of bias.

A broadly worded dress policy was approved, saying students should be clean and so dressed that they could benefit from instruction and allow other pupils to benefit from instruction.

A policy was continued allowing the principal to administer corporal punishment in the presence of a teacher as witness. Larison said if any parent objected to corporal punishment for his child, the parent should notify Larison and such punishment would not be applied.

The Bolinas-Stinson Union School District board also:

ELECTION — Set a trustee election for April 15 and set voting hours of 1 to 8 p.m. at Bolinas and Stinson Beach schools.

BOOKS — Approved a proposed state aid project which would provide $200 for additional library books.

COMMENDATION — Received a letter from the school of education at the University of California at Berkeley commending Mrs. Erika Zettl and her class for a poetry book the class produced last spring.

Reagan Aide Promises No Tax Hike, Deficit

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's top fiscal adviser promised today California will have two additional years of balanced budgets and no new taxes.

Finance Director Caspar W. Weinberger made the pledge in a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the California State Chamber of Commerce.

Reagan, whose proposed budget to finance state government in the next fiscal year will be handed to the Legislature Feb. 4, has said it will be balanced with no additional taxes.

"I am also able to assure the people of California that not only can we present a balanced budget without new taxes for fiscal 1969-70, but we can do the same thing for 1970-71," Weinberger said.

During his first year in office, the Republican governor proposed a $1 billion tax increase which the Legislature enacted. It was the biggest tax boost in any state's history.

Weinberger gave no hint in his prepared remarks of what the next budget would total, but estimates have placed it in excess of $6 billion. The current budget is $5.7 billion.

Weinberger also called for abolishing "special funds" and freezing their contents for expenditure by the governor and Legislature.

"Special funds" are those frozen by law for a certain specified purpose—such as highway construction—and are untouched for any other state expense. Such funds represent about two-thirds of the state's financial resources.

He said the special fund "straitjacket" indicated that Reagan's 1969-70 budget will be "no exception."

Bill Permits Inauguration Attendance

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan Monday signed the first bill passed by the 1969 Legislature—a measure which enables state Republican leaders to attend inauguration ceremonies for President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

The bill by Assembly speaker pro tem Charles Conrad, R-Sherman Oaks, pushes back from Sunday to Jan. 26 the date of the first 1969 meeting of the Republican state Central Committee. The measure took effect immediately.

The law had required the committee to hold its initial meeting in Sacramento on the third Sunday in January. The inauguration ceremonies will be conducted Monday in Washington.

Younger Denies Hint

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dist. Atty. Evelle J. Younger says he isn't interested in going to Washington to be assistant attorney general. He issued a denial yesterday to what he said were Washington rumors he's being considered for the job.

HONORED — S Sgt. Willie Greene Jr., assigned to the 1902nd Communications Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base, has been selected as the noncommissioned officer of the quarter for the squadron.

Assemblymen Eye Gas Tax For Transit

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly Committee on Transportation and Commerce, over opposition from Gov. Ronald Reagan's administration, today studied ways of obtaining highway user funds to build urban transit systems.

An interim hearing yesterday heard sharp criticism by Assemblyman Frank Lanterman, R-La Canada, of the 20-year master plan for building freeways.

Lanterman said present transportation planning "has created a monolith" and described present highway planning as an effort to "lay the most concrete in a given number of years."

However, proposals that some way be found to free highway funds—mostly fuel taxes—from constitutional restrictions and use it for transportation purposes other than building freeways were resisted by administration spokesmen.

Robert Carleson, chief deputy director of the Public Works Department, said he was "concerned" about proposals to divert highway user funds.

"There is not enough money coming in to meet the commitments we've made in the freeway and expressway systems," Carleson said. "We'd make a bad situation worse."

Asked by Assemblyman L. E. Townsend, D-Torrance, where the state could find money for transit systems, Carleson said his department favored a sales tax approach.

This is the approach Reagan is backing to solve the financial problems in completing the Bay Area Rapid Transit system (BART) in the San Francisco urban area.

The Governor's task force on transportation in its report last year backed away from any specific financial proposals for transit systems as too controversial.

Don Benninghoven, assistant director of the League of California Cities, testified transportation planning "will only be balanced if financing is balanced."

Financial support should be made as readily available for rapid transit as for freeways," he said.

Questioning yesterday was tied to a report prepared by the legislative analyst's office that concluded the legislature "should make three fundamental legal determinations if it is to solve the state's most crucial transportation problems and provide policy guidance to the department of public works."

The recommendations were:

To provide a means for reconciling conflicts between transportation needs and community values.

To define transportation networks by purpose.

To make financial support as readily available for public transit and local road solutions to transportation problems as for freeway solutions.

Disagreement On Probation Volunteers

By JOANNE GRANT

A report on using volunteer probation officers, prepared by the probation department at the request of Juvenile Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, was presented yesterday to the Juvenile Justice Commission, but it wasn't what the judge had in mind.

The program outlined by departing probation chief Walter H. Busher and the department's resources developer, Mel Augustine, called for community volunteers to assist probation officers in less intensive cases on a one-to-one basis.

EXTRA HELP

"It is not the report I had talked about," said Judge Gardiner, pointing out it did not include use of volunteers for cases requiring intensive supervision — the cases he believes need the most extra help.

Augustine said he believed volunteers should begin with the less serious cases and work up to those requiring more supervision.

The report detailed technical aspects of the plan and suggested volunteers be recruited through the Marin Volunteer Bureau. It called for a new staff member in the bureau and a new coordinator of volunteers in the probation department.

That phase of the plan did not appeal to Rex Silvernale, chairman of the commission.

COMPLETE CONTROL

"I'm not convinced that the volunteer bureau is what we want," he said. Silvernale said use of the bureau could fragment the program and maintained it should stay within complete control of the probation department.

The chief concern of the probation staff is getting too many volunteers too soon.

Busher and Augustine both emphasized the need for gradual implementation since already loaded deputy probation officer would have the task of supervising the volunteers.

Augustine said the department could be ready within a few weeks to bring in a few volunteers on an experimental basis in the adult section.

Busher said the tentative target date for full-scale implementation is July 1.

The commission agreed a workshop meeting was necessary to work out areas of disagreement on the program but did not set a date for the meeting.

DISCUSS GUIDELINES

The commission yesterday also discussed guidelines for the authority of the probation chief as suggested by Busher in his recent letter of resignation.

James D. Adams, a retired attorney who serves as a juvenile court referee, presented the guidelines he said he had volunteered to draw up to assist in hiring a new chief.

Several of them referred to the probation officer's authority as defined by law, including the use of the juvenile justice commission as an advisory board.

Adams also proposed regular meetings between the juvenile judge and the probation officer. One of the reasons Busher gave for resigning was disagreements with Gardiner.

Adams also urged implementation of the volunteer program.

The commission agreed to study the recommendations and meet again at 4 p.m. next Wednesday in Judge Gardiner's chambers for further discussion. Also scheduled for next week's meeting is election of officers of the commission.

Runs For Congress

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Assemblyman Newton Russell says he'll seek the congressional seat of Ed Reinecke, newly in a medical lieutenant governor. Russell, of Tujunga, is like Reinecke a Republican. He's been in the assembly since 1964. He says his district overlaps about 60 per cent of Reinecke's, which is largely in the San Fernando Valley.

Unification Vote: October Goal Set

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

An early October election on a school district unification plan within Tamalpais High School District was set as a target last night by the Marin County Committee on School District Organization.

The committee, with all members present and its biggest and most vocal audience in many months, also narrowed to four the possible unification plans remaining under study. They are:

1. Unification of Tamalpais High School District with the 11 elementary school districts in its area.

2. Forming three unified districts, one composed of the present Drake High School attendance area plus Bolinas-Stinson School District, one of the Redwood High attendance district, and one of the Tamalpais High attendance district except for Bolinas-Stinson.

3. Forming one unified district of the present Drake and Redwood attendance areas plus Bolinas-Stinson, and a second of the Tamalpais attendance area except for Bolinas-Stinson.

4. Forming one unified district of the Drake and Tamalpais attendance areas, and a second of the Redwood attendance area.

Committee members made it plain, despite complaints from the audience, that the one-district overall unification plan is unlikely to be presented to voters for a third time next fall. It has been turned down twice.

Many of the complaints came from members of the Tamalpais District Teachers Association, led by William D. Wilkinson, president. The association also had a letter before the committee objecting to abandonment of the overall unification plan.

Several times, the meeting deteriorated into arguments between committee member Galen Williams and either Wilkinson or Philip Pease of Tiburon, who accused the committee of making decisions without the public knowing about them and called for "slowing down of the process." Williams charged Pease did not know what he was talking about.

In setting an October election deadline, the committee obligated itself to have a plan ready to present to the state Board of Education not later than June. However, selection of a tentative plan last night was abandoned on motion of committee member David D. Ring.

The committee received two new sets of figures from the county schools office. One showed the amount of bonds each of three districts, based on present high school attendance areas, would have to float to build the facilities included in the latest voter-rejected Tam High District plan.

These showed the cost to taxpayers in the proposed Drake unified district would be a tax rate of 38.7 cents per $100 assessed valuation, in the Redwood district, 33.7 cents, and in the Tam district, 6.5 cents. Ring pointed out that interest rate of 4.5 per cent was used in computing these, whereas the Tam district used a 4 per cent rate in computing a 22.5-cent tax rate overall for its latest unsuccessful bond issue.

The second set of figures showed budgets for three hypothetical unified districts, based on present high school attendance areas except with Bolinas-Stinson added to Drake, and the current budgets of Tam High District and the component districts. These figures, which everybody admitted were extremely "iffy," showed total tax rate of $5.54 exclusive of bond redemption in a Drake district (where total rates now vary from $4.17 in Bolinas-Stinson to $5.49 in San Anselmo); $5.31 in a Redwood district (now from $4.98 in Ross to $5.24 in Larkspur), and $4.66 in a Tamalpais district (now $4.82 in Mill Valley and $5.22 in Sausalito).

The proposal to put Bolinas-

Stinson in a Drake district drew little support from Jane Phillips, president of the Bolinas-Stinson board. What the people there really want, she said, is annexation to the newly created Shoreline Unified District in hope that it will build a second high school somewhere between Olema and Inverness.

The committee's meeting room at the county schools office could not hold the 11 committee members plus an audience of more than 50. This required opening connecting doors to an adjoining room and added to difficulties of chairman Rachel Conner in conducting the meeting.

Next meeting of the committee is scheduled for Feb. 19.

Student Backing Vote Age At 18

The Student Executive Board at Tamalpais High School pledged yesterday support to efforts to lower the voting age nationally to 18.

In a resolution offered by Christopher Harris, student body president, the board also agreed to form a committee to lobby for the vote change at federal, state and local levels.

Board members Sue Radenzel and Steven Crain were named to organize the lobbying committee.

BIGGER THAN LIFE

Statue Takes Shape Of Mother, Child

A huge wooden statue of the Mother and Child, 12 times life size, is taking skeletal shape on the Sausalito waterfront.

Artist J. Christopher Roberts, who lives on his nearby houseboat, and a small crew of helpers have begun sketching the statue's outline in wood stringers and beams along the 66-foot spine of an old marine pileriver.

The pileriver, mounted aboard a 130-ton barge, was sold to Roberts by Madden and Lewis Co.

The giant statue, to be semi-representational and finished in redwood and stained glass, could be the centerpiece for an even larger project Roberts proposed 18 months ago — a floating arts center, museum and galleries built in the four drydocks in Richardson Bay. The base of the statue itself could serve as a gallery, Roberts said.

Roberts said he was building the statue to show the community he has the ability and the financial backing to complete the drydock-art center project. The statue "might be a gift to the people of the county," he said.

County officials are cold to the lure of art, however. The building inspection department has ordered work stopped on the statue.

"If we get a large sail area there . . . we're concerned about the possibility of its overturning" in a high wind, said John Wolfe of the county building department.

Wolfe said he had suggested to Piro Caro, a friend of Roberts, that the artist bring in a sketch

Two Released In Olompali Raid Case

Two of the five persons arrested during a narcotics raid on Rancho Olompali Tuesday night were released in Marin Municipal Court yesterday when the district attorney refused to press charges.

The remaining three, facing charges of marijuana and heroin possession, were freed on $1,000 bail each and ordered to return to court tomorrow to plead.

Several persons from Donald C. McCoy's commune on the historic rancho appeared in the courtroom of Judge Hadden W. Roth for yesterday's arraignment of members of their group.

Among the spectators was Garnet E. Brennan, fired as principal and teacher at Nicasio School after she admitted to 18 years of marijuana use. Mrs. Brennan teaches the children of the commune by day and returns to her Forest Knolls home at night.

Freed without charges yesterday were Robert Gregge H. McKendrick, 35, and a long-haired young man who identified himself only as Randolph.

Accused of possessing marijuana were Carol Lee Garret, 30, a former television performer, and James Edward Bartee, 23. Kris Anthony Sterz was charged with possessing in a complaint filed after the first raid on the rancho, the night of Jan. 8.

Teenager's Head Injuries Serious

A 14-year-old Tiburon boy was seriously injured yesterday when he ran into the side of a car after he got off a Greyhound bus bringing students home from Redwood High School.

Ray Segi of 31 Juno Road today was reported in poor condition with head injuries at Marin General Hospital.

Tiburon sheriff's deputies said at 3:38 p.m. Segi ran around the front of the bus stopped at the intersection of Tiburon Boulevard and Jefferson Road and into the side of a car driven by Mary Alice Williams, 17, also a Redwood High School student, of 41 West Shore Road, Belvedere.

DOING YOUR THING

Like To Tackle Belly Dancing? Try Heliotrope

By ALAN JONES

It isn't easy to find specialists in education these days.

Why, it took Heliotrope officials a couple of months to find someone to teach body painting, and they aren't sure yet they'll be able to offer the class.

But Heliotrope — which calls itself the Free University of San Francisco and Marin — has coped magnificently in other fields, although it was founded only last fall.

In this winter quarter it is offering do-your-own-thing courses including "running through the woods," "theater of the body," "belly dancing" and many, many more.

Heliotrope, which is not connected with a better-known free university on the San Francisco Peninsula, is the brainchild of David Marmon of San Francisco. An early recruit and head of the Marin end of the operation is Jill Chambers, who tends Heliotrope's upstairs office at 147 Lovell Avenue in Mill Valley, answering telephones and handing out class schedules and information to potential students who drop by.

Heliotrope, she said, will offer any class anyone wants to teach, and it is then up to the instructor to find students who want to learn his subject. Students look through the course lists, then call the instructor or Heliotrope to get signed up.

"Free university" means it is free form, Miss Chambers said, not cost free. But the fees are modest enough. Students and instructors alike pay $15 per quarter and for that sum can take or teach as many courses as they want.

"It's a nonprofit thing," she said. "Nobody gets paid, I don't get paid. I even paid $15 to do this." The money goes to print the class schedules and pay office expenses.

If some of the courses seem far out — well, education is a pretty broad term. Life drawing, taught by Ross Lewallen, is a course you could find in art schools anywhere. But "Witchcraft and the Occult" is something different.

That's the point, Miss Chambers explained. There's no reason for a free university simply to duplicate courses people can take somewhere else.

Occultism is a popular field in Heliotrope's brochure. There are courses titled Astrology, Magic and the Occult, Mind: The Magic Dream of Matter, Myth Forum, ESP, and Group Mind: Theory and How To.

Most courses are offered in the instructor's home, but some such as "running in the woods" are all outdoors, and a magic course last fall met in graveyards, the old Sutro

Paths in San Francisco, and other such places.

People who want to investigate the current "encounter" sort of thing have several courses to choose from — "Non-Verbal Encounter Group" is offered by Larry Ephron of Mill Valley, and similar courses are "Footloose in Reality," a sensitivity-oriented class similar to Esalen Institute therapy; "Embodyment Through Encounter," "Post-Revolutionary Marriage" and "Theater of the Body."

Not all the classes are esoteric or mystic. Some are delightfully down to earth than shoemaking, a course taught by Bob Wilson of Larkspur.

Heliotrope has no football team, but there are classes for the physically oriented. Most notable is "belly dancing," offered by Tehmina of San Francisco. (Belly dancers usually have only one name.) "Men are welcome as participants or audience," the brochure says.

"Girls, if you've never turned on 50 men at once, here's your chance."

Nobu Ikeda of Corte Madera will teach free form dance, and Hatha yoga will also be offered.

Two other courses that may or may not be physical are "Theater of Now," described as "a theater of what's happening to all of us . . . the theater of you," and "Printing as a Weapon," offered by Bernard Moss of Sausalito.

The idea, Marmon explained, is to enlarge the concept of education. "Man has a natural curiosity about the world around him."

With state colleges going up in flames around the state, a new idea like Heliotrope seems rather mild and peaceful. A look at the list of courses shows it's nothing like Eton or Vassar or dear old Yale — but then the world isn't much like it was when those aged institutions were founded.

was not a mechanic and did not intend to be one, Hoy wrote in November that "thanks to that machine. I am now a master mechanic."

After the potato chips started flowing out of the factory, Hoy found that "selling the stuff" proved as difficult as manufacturing it. "I'm convinced that it (the potato chip enterprise) can be a success but success will depend on an Ethiopian salesman," he wrote last month.

Along with this enterprise, which Hoy said kept him busy for weeks from 6:30 a.m. to late at night, he found that his role of doctor to the boys has been very important.

Marinite Revives Potato Chip Factory

By MARY LEYDECKER

A 20-year-old San Rafael youth, who is taking a year off from Harvard University to work at a boys' hostel in Ethiopia, writes that his experiences have ranged from treating infected eyes to running a potato chip factory.

Christopher Hoy, son of Rev. and Mrs. Trevor A. Hoy of 77 Manderley Road, set off for Addis Ababa last summer equipped with a quick course in tropical diseases, a few medicines and no knowledge of Amharic, the language spoken there. (He has since learned enough Amharic for conversation.)

As a member of Volunteer Teachers for Africa, a Harvard organization, Hoy found his own job. The hostel where he works houses 50 youngsters who are "street boys." They are mostly country boys who have no families or who have left home, he writes.

The hostel, which is one of two in Addis Ababa, is partially self-supporting and one of Hoy's jobs is to try to make it more so. This is where the potato chip factory came in.

When young Hoy arrived last summer, he helped the boys make swing sets and climbing bars to sell to Ethiopian families, but he said this seemed a limited way to raise money.

"Toys are a luxury few Ethiopians can afford, and the 'furlings' (foreigners) are rich enough to be able to afford much more sophisticated toys," he wrote to his father, who suggested making other kinds of toys. The swings and climbing frames were particularly popular with Americans, who "want their toys to grow up right," he said sarcastically.

After some weeks of negotiation, the association which runs the hostel found the money to buy the defunct Kesh-Kesh Potato Chip Co. and Hoy wrote in October that he was acting as manager and chief salesman.

"All sorts of hangups and slowdowns and absurd situations" accompanied the reopening of the company, young Hoy wrote in November. A new deep fryer was purchased but the voltage needed was not available. A pump was installed to remedy lack of water pressure, but Hoy soon discovered the reason for the lack of pressure was a closed valve in a yard next door.

An "absurd" car which was given by the Peace Corps to the new enterprise for deliveries broke down three times in three weeks. After swearing that he

An "absurd" car which was given by the Peace Corps to the new enterprise for deliveries broke down three times in three weeks. After swearing that he was nearly ignored at the school, where long hair and short skirts are tolerated. "We found, however, that when students adjusted to the school's climate and found they had no one to impress or shock, the hair would be cut and skirts lengthened," he commented.

A quarter of the students are employed, many on a work-experience program through which they receive school credit. Anderson said job-seeking also encourages more conventional dress.

The only area in which the school is more strict is in attendance. "Absence is their big hangup," Anderson said. He added that this caused many students to fail in the regular schools.

"Here they know if they miss too many days, they will not receive credit for work and will not meet their contract," he said. Tardiness of more than five minutes constitutes an absence.

"Counseling plays a big part at our school where students have a low concept of self-worth," he said. "Each of our teachers acts as a counselor, although Anna Lohst is in charge of that segment."

Courses taught include English, world history, American history, American institutions, business, general math and science, home economics and biology. The principal said he hoped to add a few electives such as art and music soon.

Other students look to entering the school as a means of "escape" from the regimentation of the full-day school.

"This student usually has second thoughts about it being easier school when he sees our curriculum is entirely academic," Anderson said.

Anderson taught in the school — except for a year at Petaluma Senior High — for 10 years. He expects the school to be more successful this year.

The seven face sentences of up to five years in prison for allegedly planning antitrust demonstrations in October, 1967, which led to violence between police and demonstrators.

One of the defendants is Michael J. Smith, 27, formerly of Corte Madera and a leader of the 1964 free speech movement at the University of California at Berkeley.

By the end of Wednesday, four men and two women were tentatively seated on the jury.

Among the prospective jurors who didn't make it was one who said the defendants were part of a "conspiracy to destroy our government and our police department" and another who said he "could not condemn" the defendants since he considers Vietnam to be "unjust, senseless and inhuman."

The relaxed atmosphere of the school is also created through small classes. There are six teachers for 120 students on double half-day sessions with an average class size of 14. "We try to promote a tutorial climate," the principal said.

The lack of strict rules also eases the tension students feel at regular schools. At San Antonio students are permitted to smoke on breaks and between classes.

No homework assignments are given, but individual work is encouraged. "If a student completes all of his daily assignments in class, he can expect to receive a C, but if he wants an A or B, he must do outside work," Anderson pointed out.

Conventional dress standards waste their time playing cards."

In his Christmas list for the youngsters, Hoy said he had three girls in the hostel at the time but was desperately trying to get rid of one who was 14 or 15 because she was too much of an attraction to the older boys.

For the other two younger girls, he suggested dolls, specifying they must be black. (His mother later sent the dark-skinned dolls.)

Still full of plans for the hostel, such as starting a chicken-raising business, but tired from his duties, Hoy recently took a vacation trip through other parts of Africa.

"I have become more cynical than I ever would have wanted about Ethiopia and its future," he wrote on his return to Addis Ababa on Jan. 2. Seeing Kenya, Uganda and Tanzania confirmed his suspicions that Ethiopia is lagging far behind its neighbors in economic progress as well as literacy.

In his next-to-last letter, young Hoy said he had discovered he had tapeworms, possibly the cause of a weight loss, and on Jan. 2 he wrote that he had come down with malaria.

His family, planning to travel to Africa this summer to visit him, have not heard since then.

In one of his letters, Hoy summed up his feelings about Ethiopia by explaining that nothing had been as he had expected. He discovered, he said, that an American could either go "native" or remain a "furling."

"There is a place for both, but my efforts are most successful," he found to his astonishment, "when I take advantage of the benefits of being a furling."

Subdividers Given Park Policy Role

An ordinance requiring subdividers to assist in park development in Petaluma was approved last night by the recreation, music and parks commission.

The ordinance, prepared by the California League of Cities, permits cities to require dedication of land or payment of fees to aid in park development.

Can Kermit Zarley Repeat As Kaiser Champ?

NAPA (UPI) — Kermit Zarley used the inaugural Kaiser Open a year ago as the launching pad for his most successful season on the pro tour. Today, the guy they call "Moon Man" starts defense of his title in the 1969 version of the $135,000 Kaiser a bit shaky and uncertain of his course.

After banking $25,000 from the Kaiser in 1968, Zarley went on to win nearly $65,000 in all. Along the way he had a second place finish in the Byron Nelson Classic, tied for seventh in the Sahara and eighth in the PGA. He played in 26 tournaments in 1968 although he would have liked to compete in more. The stumbling block was a series of weekend dates with the National Guard.

Zarley, a native of Seattle, Wash., tees off today with 155 other stars, a field minus only Jack Nicklaus, in pursuit of a $27,000 top prize. However, being inactive since the Lucky International last October, Zarley admits his game isn't what he'd like it to be.

While Zarley worried about his game, Arnold Palmer, golf's all-time money winning champ who wound up in a tie for 17th at the Los Angeles open a week ago, seemed to be coming around. He shot a three under-par 69 over Silverado's south course in the pro-am yesterday and said he should have done better.

"I missed some easy putts along the way," said Palmer. "The course was a bit wet and if it dries out I might make some of those putts I didn't make this time."

There are eight former PGA champs in the big field, plus five former U.S. Open winners, 1968 Masters king Bob Goalby, British Open champ Bob Charles, British amateur king Mike Bonallack, Billy Casper, winner of more than $200,000 a year ago, Los Angeles Open winner Charlie Sifford and Alameda Open winner Dick Lotz.

The pro-am was split into two separate events, each carrying a purse of $5,000.

Al Geiberger, Frank Boynton and Lotz tied Palmer with 69s on their own ball but Palmer and his amateur partners had a best ball 59 to win the south course event. Jack Montgomery had a 68 on his own ball but Henning and his amateur partners had a best ball 58 to take the north course event.

WORTH $7 MILLION Joe's Super Performance

BY MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was so big they had to bring in the heavy stuff to handle it, like the computers and the computers, and when they were all through figuring it out, who do you think emerged as the greatest one-shot moneymaker of all time?

Joe Namath, that's who.

His fantastic performance in Miami Sunday was worth "approximately $7-million, and that is a conservative figure," according to actuaries from different major industries.

Namath won't get all of that $7-million, of course, but don't worry about him, he'll do all right and maybe even buy himself another $5,000 coat next winter.

That seven million figure is the total the actuaries project Namath helped make for himself and all others connected with the Super Bowl game when he led the New York Jets to their startling 16-7 upset over the Baltimore Colts.

Namath did it all in less than one hour (he turned over the controls to Babe Parilli for two plays) and when's the last time anybody ever made that much in so short a time anywhere or anyway?

The Rothschilds', Rockefellers', Hughes' and Getty's aren't particularly looking to get into this debate but even they'd admit they would have to roll up their sleeves and go to work to beat Broadway Joe's spectacular financial showing.

The list of those who'll benefit financially because of what he did in the Super Bowl Sunday is endless.

One NBC official does say:

"These will be a compression of the price structure. You can anticipate the AFL is of greater value now than it was before. You also can anticipate the price structure will be commensurate with the value."

In case you have trouble understanding, that simply means more money next season. The next question is, how much more? Okay, let's take a hypothetical case. Let's also take a nice conservative sum. Five thousand dollars. In TV circles that's nice and conservative.

Say, for example, NBC, which has been charging nearly half as much as CBS, gets $5,000 more a minute next season for the 8 minutes of commercials it sells each game. That comes to $90,000 more for each game, and since NBC televises a total of 35 games, you multiply $90,000 35 times and you get an increase of $3,150,000 right there. You didn't know quarterbacks came that good, did you?

Altogether now, let's hear it for Joe Namath. Who's okay? He's okay.

Shooters Get Okay To Go After Coots

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The federal government has ordered a reduction in the nation's coot population, and the State Fish and Game Department says Jan. 18 to May 18 is open season for the birds in 17 Central Valley counties.

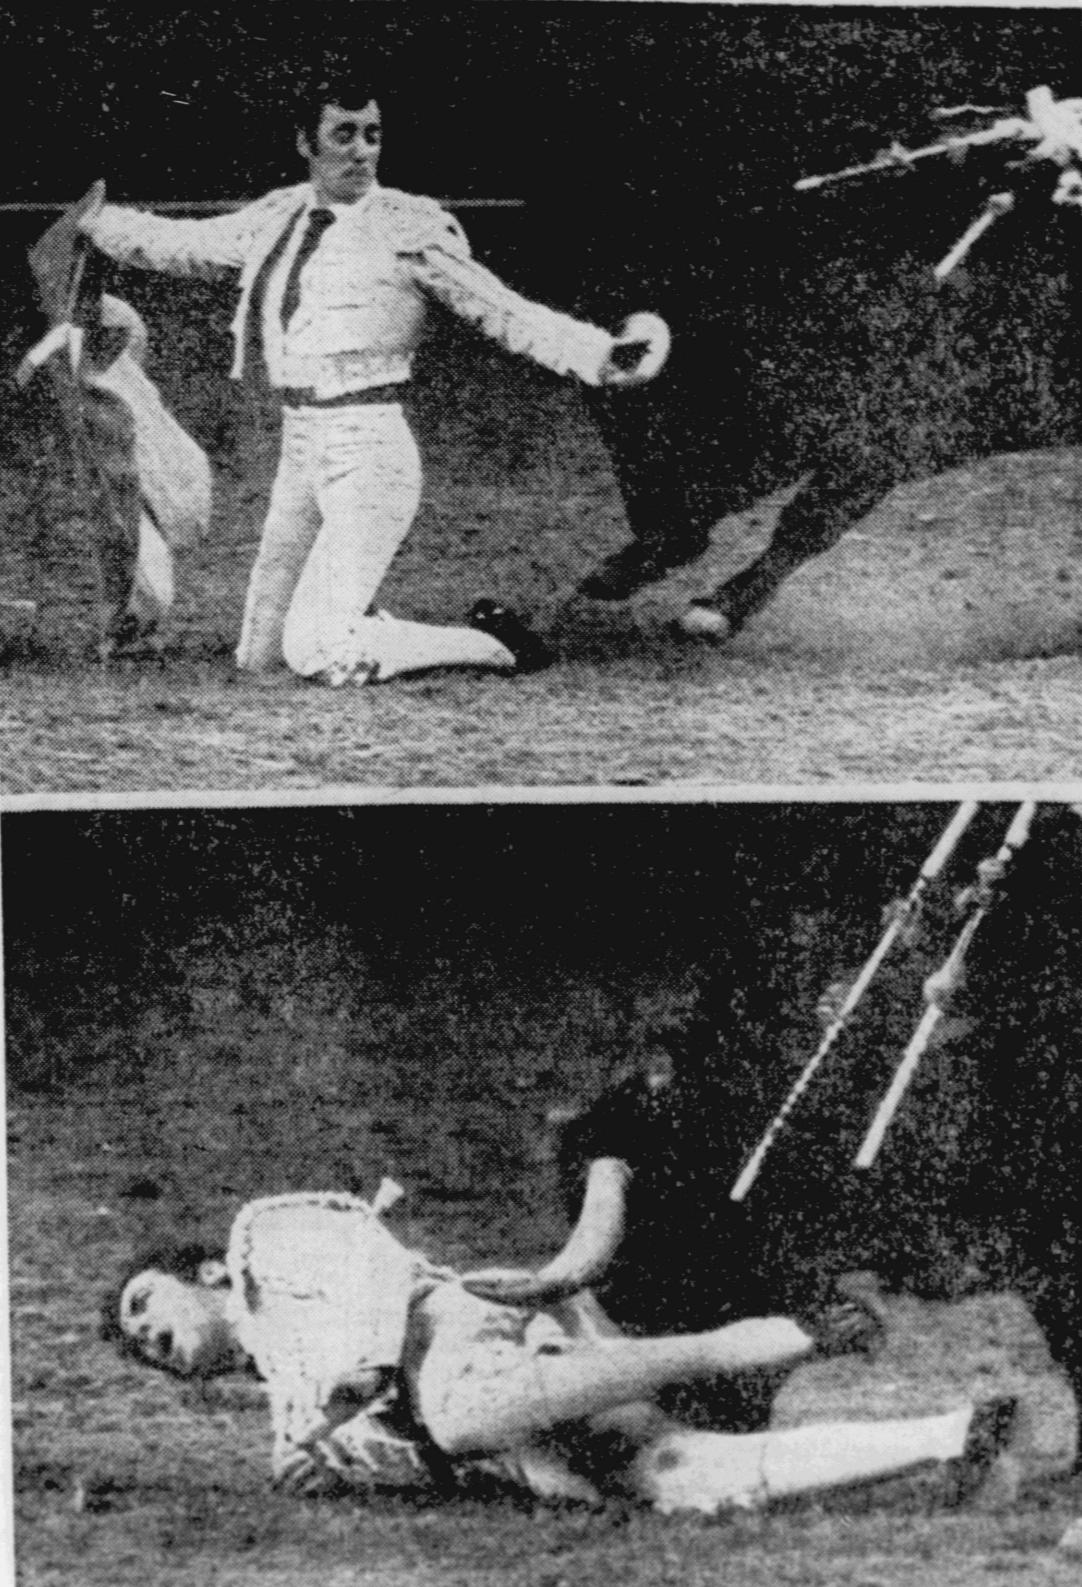

In making the announcement, the state said the shooting hours will be from sunrise to sunset, with no limit on the number of birds taken.

"We have found the average football fan is a very discriminating TV viewer," says one NBC

In other words, Joe Namath made those figures possible for NBC, which televises the AFL games.

The consensus was that NBC came off a poor second when it bought the 5-year TV rights to all AFL games for $5-million four years ago. CBS paid more but got itself the plain everybody said. CBS got itself the NFL games.

"We have found the average football fan is a very discriminating TV viewer," says one NBC

She's Not Giving Up Fight To Become 1st Girl Jockey

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "I'm going to ride and ride and ride. And I'll make it someday," Barbara Jo Rubin said.

But she was disappointed yesterday.

Male jockeys thwarted her effort to become the first girl rider in American thoroughbred racing history. Now the petite 19-year-old blonde says she's determined to carry on her fight, to take it to court if necessary.

Dressed in the gold and red silks she had hoped to wear in the fourth race at Tropical Park yesterday, Barbara Jo told newsmen: "I didn't expect this at all. I was all ready to go. The male jockeys were so nice to me this morning."

Fighting back tears, she added: "I think there were just a few of them who seemed to be against me. But I'm going to try and I hope I'll be the first woman to race some day."

About 100 male jockeys threatened a mass boycott at Tropical if the former exercise girl were allowed to ride a horse named Stoneland in the fourth race.

After a stormy meeting in the jockey room, the 11 jockeys in the third race refused to come out unless Barbara Jo was removed from her horse.

Trainer Bryan Webb bowed to the pressure and broke the news to Barbara Jo.

"Barbara, honey," he said. "You're stuck. You ain't gonna ride." Webb explained "it was a case of taking her off or calling the race off."

Attorney Robert H. Burns of the American Civil Liberties Union talked with Barbara Jo and her father, a Miami tavern owner, and said he would go to court charging interference with the right of contract.

Burns said he would name each jockey in the third and fourth races and the Jockeys Guild as a group if collusion could be proved. He said he also will consider federal action if it could be proved that anti-trust laws had been violated.

Saul Silberman, owner of Tropical Park, said it was useless to argue after the male jockeys took their action.

"The jockeys felt there were two problems," Silberman said.

"Danger to life and danger to their livelihood. A lot of the boys don't get too many mounts."

The more riders, the less chance there is of making a living."

Racing Commission Chairman L. B. Walker said the commission will inquire into the situation.

Trainer Webb replaced Miss Rubin with Jorge Velasquez, who finished ninth on Stoneland at odds of 3-1. The horse had been listed at 12-1 in the morning line with Barbara Jo.

The announcement of the girl's replacement received a loud round of boos from the crowd of 11,621, many of whom were lured to Tropical by the prospect of a saddle confrontation between male and female.

Another woman had better luck last night at the Pompano Park Harness Raceway 30 miles north of Miami. Mrs. Barbara McPhee, 31, after failing on two earlier starts last week, became the first female to win a pari-mutuel horse race in Florida history when she guided Trailmaster to a photo finish win in the eighth race.

Meanwhile, the Canadian Trotting Association rejected by 65-51 vote a motion to rescind a 10-year old rule that prohibits licensing of women drivers.

Haughton Again Leads Drivers

NEW YORK (AP) — William Haughton, the money winning harness driver of all time, took top honors in 1968 for the 12th time.

Horses driven by Haughton earned $1,654,172, eclipsing the high mark of $1,365,713 set in 1967.

Marin Tar Cagers Whip Solano J.C.

Time Out For Final Exams

College of Marin's basketball team embarks on a layoff of more than a week (no strike, just finals) after pushing its Camino Norte Conference record to 2-1 on a side-visit to Vallejo.

The Tars are off until Saturday, Jan. 25, but Solano Junior College of Vallejo would probably like to see them quit entirely after suffering a 71-62 loss last night in Vallejo.

A steady, balanced scoring attack produced the desired result that sent Solano reeling to its third straight conference loss without a win and its 14th of the season against a single victory.

Former Redwood High School teammates Andre Horn and Tom Seidenberg led the College of Marin attack with 16 points each while Pat Schafer added 15 points and Ches Bonniau had 12.

The Tars led 39-30 at the half.

The victory gave College of Marin a 6-9 season record.

Seals Set Down Black Hawks, 4-3

By DAVID DIETZ

OAKLAND — The president of the game road trip, went on to win the game, 4-3.

Seals coach Fred Glover called Hampson's goal, his 14th of the season, the turning point of the game.

WINNER

"That took the starch out of them," Glover said. "Then Carol (Vadnais) came back and got another one."

Vadnais' goal, a whistler from 75 feet out, proved the winning tally. It was the young defenseman's second goal of the night and his ninth of the year.

Gary Smith excelled in the Oakland nets, once stopping the streaking Bobby Hull on a breakaway. Chicago scored twice — once from a scramble in front of the net — in the last four minutes of game.

Gary Jarrett got the other Oakland goal, his 19th.

15TH WIN

The win, matching the team total (15) for last year, kept the Seals in second place in the Western Division of the National Hockey League, four points ahead of the Los Angeles Kings.

Oakland plays the New York Rangers tomorrow night and the Pittsburgh Penguins Sunday, both at the Coliseum Arena.

Oakland management was disappointed at last night's crowd of 6,065. They had expected upwards of 9,000 to come out for a look at Hull, hockey's fastest skater and shooter who is playing with a broken jaw.

The Seals may be moved to Buffalo or Vancouver because of poor attendance in the Bay Area, and while Oakland crowds are exuberant, enthusiasm doesn't ring cash registers.

Mrs. Greenwood Wins Tourney

Mrs. George Greenwood shot a 95-29 — 75 yesterday to win Class A honors at the Indian Valley Women's Golf Club tourney on the Novato course.

Second was Mrs. John Gaylord, 97-19 — 78.

In Class B, Mrs. George Nolan won, 106-26 — 80, with Mrs. Robert Boggs second, 109-23 — 84.

49ers To Play In Candlestick Park

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers will play football in Candlestick Park, perhaps as early as next season.

The announcement came after Mayor Joseph Alioto withdrew his efforts yesterday to build a new stadium in downtown San Francisco. A committee of supervisors promptly approved a plan to expand and renovate Candlestick Park.

Los Spada, president of the 49ers, was delighted. He said he prefers the fall weather at Candlestick to that at a proposed site south of Market street in the city.

The committee was informed the cost of increasing the Candlestick capacity from 42,500 to 60,000 and other improvements would be about $9 million.

It is recommended that San Francisco Stadium Inc., lease holder, submit a new plan for stadium expansion.

There have been controversies over Candlestick Park from the time it was completed eight years ago. There has been some talk lately of building a stadium in another part of the city.

The others have played in Kezar Stadium in Golden Gate Park since the National Football League team was formed.

NEW YORK (AP) — William Haughton, the money winning harness driver of all time, took top honors in 1968 for the 12th time.

Horses driven by Haughton earned $1,654,172, eclipsing the high mark of $1,365,713 set in 1967.

HERB MICHELSON

Oakland Seals Fade From Scene In Whimper

OAKLAND — Barry van Gerbig and his Seals will be pulling out of town with a whimper—a series of whimpers.

Just before peddling his Oakland hockey team to fellows in Buffalo or Vancouver or wherever the National Hockey League's Board of Governors permits him to make the sale, van Gerbig has been moaning aloud over the lack of fan and community support here.

He contends he was made all sorts of promises by civic leaders, that local radio and TV stations and potential sponsors failed to rally to his cause, that nobody cares about coming to his games, that—gee whiz—how come nobody wants to help him doggone it shucks darn.

This is wearying to your truly. I've always contended that fans and towns and civic leaders (whoever they are) owe nothing to the owner of a sports team. Nor does a newspaper or radio or TV enterprise have to sing the praise of a club and bend every effort just because that team is there.

BILL VEECK, who used to own baseball teams and now will be running a race track in Massachusetts, discussed the subject most forthrightly and accurately in his autobiography, "Veeck—As in Wreck," which people like van Gerbig should read before buying a sports team. Said Veeck:

"Sports has sold itself as a civic monument for so long it has come to believe its own propaganda. There is nothing owed to you as an owner.

"A sports team is a commercial venture, operating for a profit. The idea that you don't have to package your product as attractively as General Motors packages its products is sports' most pernicious enemy."

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

Sifford Says Negroes Get Golf Chance

Today's bowler has arrived at the foul line in very poor timing. Her left foot has already reached the line, but the ball is still on its way. Now she will have to use mostly arm and hand strength to get the ball going. This is tiring as well as uncoordinated. The left foot and ball should reach the line as one.

Steve Spurrier Also Coaches

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Steve Spurrier went to work yesterday as an assistant football coach at the University of Florida, where he won the 1966 Heisman Trophy as a quarterback.

The third-string quarterback for the San Francisco 49ers will work as a full-time assistant offensive coach under Fred Pancoast until he returns to the 49ers camp in late summer, said Athletic Director Ray Graves.

During spring practice, said Graves, Spurrier will work with the punters and backs on passing. He was the 49ers regular punter for the past two seasons.

JIM MURRAY

Mr. Scoop McGueser
The Morning After Jets

Now that Super Sunday has come and gone, it's time to summon the inquest jury. Will you please take the stand Mr. Scoop McGueser the Second and state your name, age and occupation?

A. I'm in my 40s and what I am is a football expert.

Q. Fine, now will you tell the jury in your own words what happened in Miami on Jan. 12?

A. Well, as you saw, one of the freak accidents of all time happened. I mean, a lot of lousy, stinking coincidences came together that no one could foresee.

Q. Yes, now, Mr. McGueser, when a journalist such as yourself assures the public the outcome of a game like that will be 42-13 or more in favor of one team and that team loses, what do you call it?

A. We call it "The Upset of the Century."

Q. And what do you say then?

A. We say, "A lot of people are eating crow today."

Q. Would that apply to you?

A. HEAVENS, NO! Only to the other guy. I always say, "It will come as no surprise to the readers of this column," and I will point out that I said the other team had a chance if several things jelled. I said that down in paragraph 29.

Q. Oh, it was over in the jump in the paper?

A. Well, no, it got cut out. It's on the composing room floor, is where it is. But that's hardly my fault.

Q. Now, Mr. McGueser, when a quarterback has an outstanding year, leads his team to the championship, gets voted Player of the Year by you people, but then has a bad day in the Super Bowl, what do you say?

A. We say he's a "journeyman" quarterback. We also say we really knew it all the time. We also fault the coach. We say we can't understand how he left his backup quarterback on the bench so long, particularly since his backup quarterback was an all-time wonder, a veritable wizard of quarterbacking.

Q. AND, OF COURSE, you have been calling attention to this all week long?

A. Oh, no. You see, all week long, we had been saying that it was too bad, but the wizard was all washed up, and we sniffed

A. We said, "We told you so."

Q. And now, when the other team wins?

A. We say one game doesn't mean a thing.

Q. What qualifies one to be a sports page prognosticator?

A. Well, you look for little things. Like if you see him looking west some morning waiting for the sun to come up. A guy hunting tigers in Africa or polar bear in India is a natural for you. You look for the fellow who thinks fairy tales are documentaries, military communiques are factual, and the Brooklyn Bridge is for sale. It also helps if he can't see too good. But if you hear him say one thing, you run him out of the profession quick.

Q. What's that?

A. "I was wrong."

Informative Get-Well Card From Fishing Fan

Thanks, for the many expressions of get well cards and personal letters. No question but what such expressions of sympathy and regard are very welcome. From the small pile in my to-be-answered basket I pick one at random from a loyal reader, Jim Killeen of 17 Buccaneer Court, Corte Madera.

It is more or less typical and adds its increase of pleasure from receiving it.

After the expressions of hope for my complete recovery from major surgery performed the end of August, Jim Killeen offers an on-the-spot-report of fishing activities on the Russian River.

"I was up there last Sunday, many fishermen, few fish, however, three steelhead were caught at Healdsburg below the dam. Fellow at work has talked me into going on a pole-poke fishing trip next weekend, it sounds like a lot of fun and something all the family can have fun at. We are going out by Rocky Point."

"Sometime would you please see if some of your other readers have some good way to cook shad roe. I'd like to get a better way of cooking it before next shad season."

"GET WELL SOON, Jim Killeen, 17 Buccaneer Court, Corte Madera."

John Gordy Heads NFL Player Group

PALM SPRINGS (AP) — Big John Gordy, who led a bitter players' revolt in the National Football League last summer, is retiring as a member of the Detroit Lions.

His new position: Executive Director of the NFL Players Association, a newly created post.

Gordy, as president of the association in 1968, spearheaded a players' demand for a better pension plan and other benefits.

A threatened boycott almost wrecked the staid old league before the exhibition season began.

Gordy's retirement after 11 years as a star offensive guard for Detroit, and his selection as executive director, came as the NFL players group and the American Football League Players Association, ended their joint winter meeting last night.

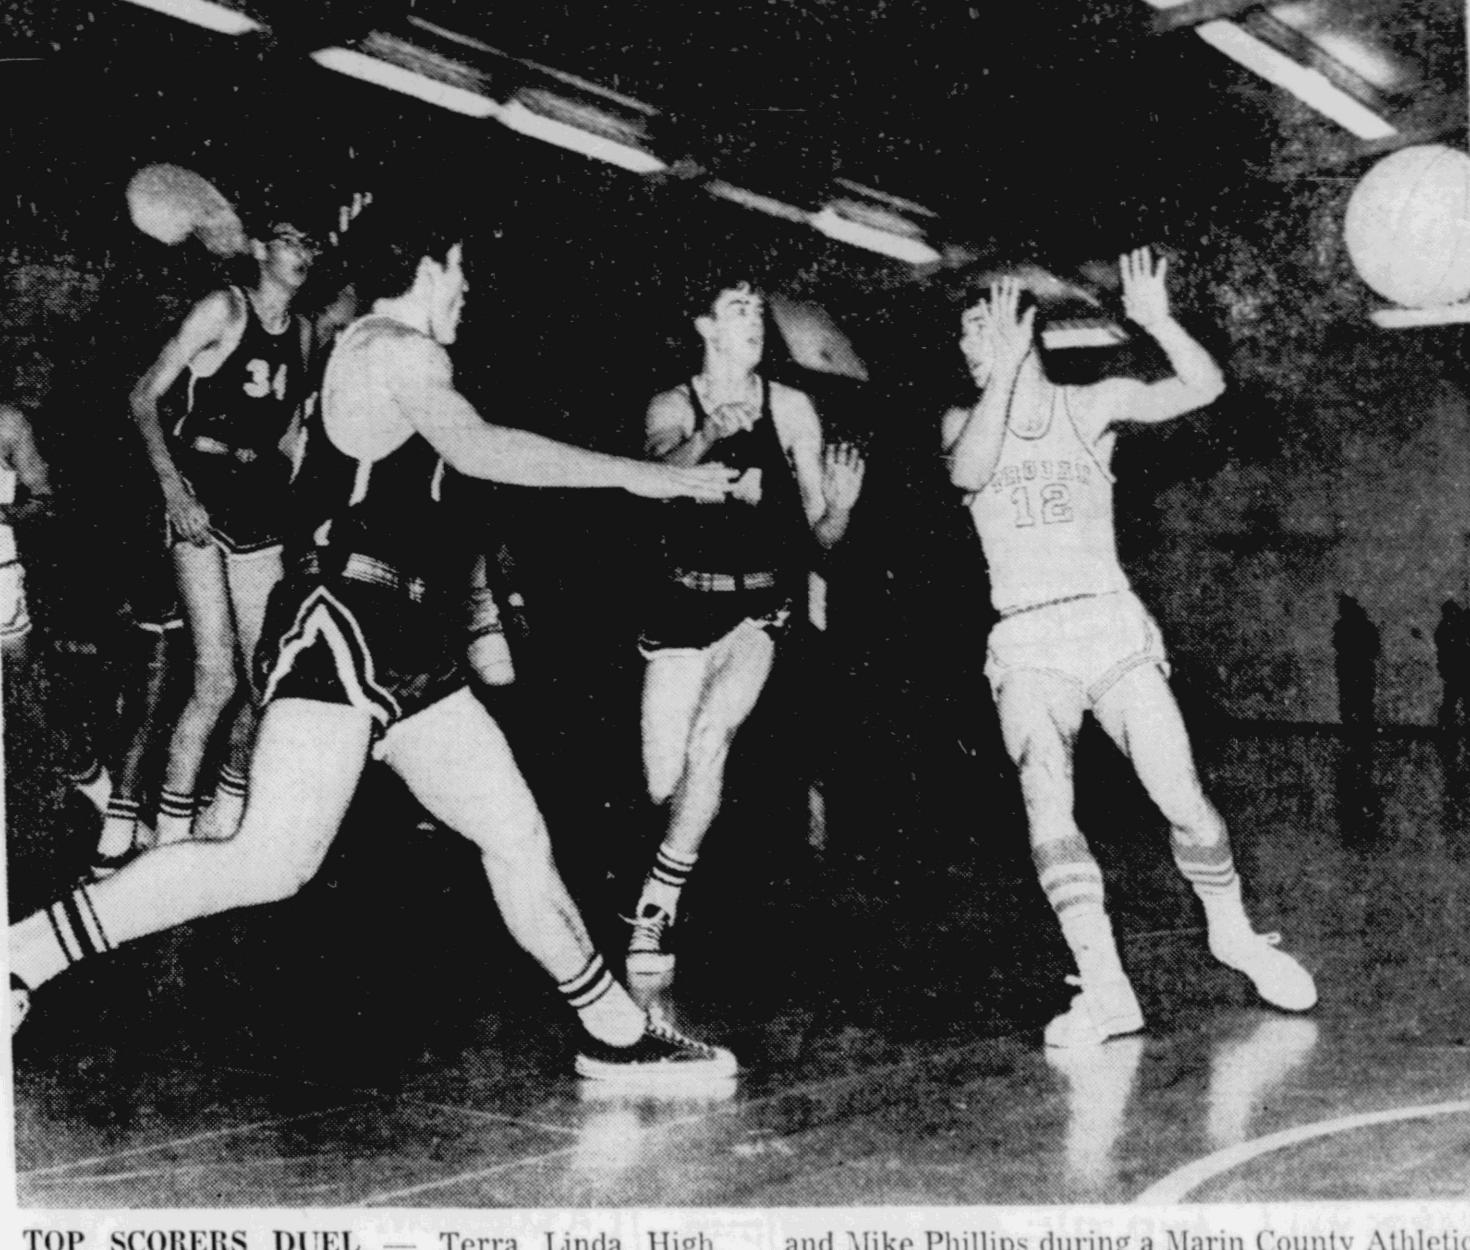

The new president, kicking specialist Jim Bakken of the St. Louis Cardinals, declared Gordy "will have our full support in the coming year."

"I humbly accept this position and I will continue to carry out the progressive policies established by the players association," Gordy said.

When the threatened players' strike was averted in mid-July, a spokesman for NFL owners said the settlement would cost $3 million for the years 1968-69 for pension benefits, administrative costs and related matters.

The players association main office will remain in Detroit, Lee Vance, public relations director, said.

He managed the Red Sox from 1955 to 1962.

This Day In Sports

HANK GREENBERG

Possible Baseball Czar?

CHICAGO (UPI) — There's nothing wrong with baseball that the right czar couldn't straighten out.

The right man, however, has owners as Broadway Joe Namath was for the Baltimore Colts in the Super Bowl championship football game last Sunday.

It has now been a month since William Eckert was fired from his $65,000 a year job for a man who "knew baseball."

Bill Bartholomay, president of the Atlanta Braves, said yesterday he had found the right man in the presence of Hall of Famer Hank Greenberg.

Allyn said he thought Greenberg "just might be all right," and added he believed Hank "would be acceptable to the players."

"I'm interested in baseball and I hope they come up with a qualified man," said Greenberg in New York. "There's nothing wrong with the game. As soon as they get the right man I'm sure baseball will continue to be the No. 1 sport in the United States."

Greenberg, a former American League player for 18 years, later was part owner of the Cleveland Indians and the White Sox. He now is an investment banker in New York.

"Bill is a good friend of mine, and I'm highly flattered that he would think of me as qualified to do a good job," Greenberg said, "but I'm not available for the job."

Asked if he would serve as commissioner should the owners draft him, Greenberg replied, "That's a different ball game. But I haven't talked to anyone at all about it and I don't know if anything like that has happened."

Bartholomay's suggestion of Greenberg picked up steam when Arthur Allyn, head of the American League Chicago White Sox, indicated that he would support Greenberg for the post as commissioner.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Jan. 16
the 16th day of 1969 with 349 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Jupiter and Mars. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:
In 1833 the United States Civil Service was established.

In 1920 saloons closed their doors as the Volstead Act to enforce prohibition went into effect.

In 1952 Russia ordered all foreign diplomats in Moscow to limit their movements to within 25 miles of the city, purportedly to stop spying in military installations.

In 1961 a Texas tower radar station sank in the Atlantic 33 miles southeast of New York City, killing 28 men.

A thought for the day:
Ogden Nash said, "Women would rather be right than reasonable."

SPADE OPENER

West opened the king of spades, and East played the discouraging four.

West then shifted to the eight of clubs, and South won with the ace.

South returned a spade, and West took the ace. West continued clubs, and South ruffed.

Now South "cautiously" ruffed a low spade with dummy's ten of hearts, only to discover that this play gave West two trump tricks instead of only one. Down one.

It's clear that South was worried about a bad spade break, but he should have been fairly sure that the six missing spades were divided 3-3.

If East had only two spades he would begin a high-low signal at the first trick;

if West had only two, he would have led the ace first instead of the king.

DISCOVERY PLAY

After knocking out the ace of spades and ruffing the club return South should lead the king of hearts. If anybody takes the trick, dummy's ten of trumps is an entry to the top diamonds; and South can plan to lead a trump to the ten in order to discard two spades on the ace and king of diamonds.

BAD BREAK

As the cards lie, South would discover the bad trump break and would then realize that he could not afford to ruff a spade in dummy. He would know that he had to rely on a 3-3 spade break — and he would make his contract.

Isn't it easy to be thoughtful when you're looking at all of the cards?

Bookmobile Bound For Pacific Island

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii's state librarian, James Hunt, says a bookmobile will be sent to Tonga in the South Pacific.

Hunt says Hawaii Gov. John A. Burns has asked that a bookmobile be sent to the independent kingdom some 2,800 miles southwest of Honolulu. One now in use in Honolulu will be sent to Tonga in about six months, when new bookmobiles for Hawaii arrive.

Volunteers May Help Solve Probation Problem

Of more than casual interest is a new program of volunteer probation officers instituted by Marin Municipal Court.

Presiding Judge Hadden W. Roth and the probation department have worked out a plan for use of members of the community to voluntarily supervise young offenders, aged 18 through 25, who are placed on probation.

Judge Roth, in announcing the program, said: "One of our main problems is that young people get alienated from the community. This is one way to help them back into the community."

The judge thus touched on one of the knottiest problems in rehabilitation of criminals.

BY THE TIME a criminal winds up in state prison, the chances for his reform are far from good. The high rate of return to prison of paroled felons attests to that.

The chance for rehabilitation, then, exists principally when the young offender has not yet progressed to major crimes, but has shown his criminal tendency by misdemeanors. Such cases are handled by the municipal courts, and a large share of them are granted probation. In fact, in Marin County in 1967, according to the California Bureau of Criminal Statistics, the municipal court granted probation to 90 per cent of those recommended for it by the probation department.

HERE, HOWEVER, a danger develops.

Although the young offender is permitted to remain at large, he is under control of a probation agent. To him, the probation agent is another symbol of hated authority — another policeman, though without uniform. Probation officers, trying hard to counteract this, are inclined to go to the other extreme and become the advocates of those placed under their supervision. Frequently, when a probation violator comes before the court, his officer appears in a role almost like that of defense attorney.

THE PROBATION officer is caught between two horns of a dilemma: If he is too strict, he remains "another policeman" and his rehabilitation efforts are doomed; if he is too lenient, he becomes the offender's partisan.

Also, the offender recognizes that the probation officer is not really a part of the better life that he must enter if he would forsake a life of crime. Because of his work, the professional probation officer must live in a half-world, made up of criminals and those who associate with criminals.

THE VOLUNTEER probation officer, drawn from the community, has not these handicaps. He is a true representative of the world the young criminal may secretly wish to enter. Since he may be strict without being "another policeman," he has no reason to become the "devil's advocate."

The volunteer probation officers must, of course, be selected with great care. Close cooperation between court and probation department is necessary in choosing them. And they must receive expert instruction in their volunteer roles.

Success of the new system probably hinges on care of selection and adequacy of briefing. But it holds great promise. Judge Roth and the probation department deserve commendation for trying it.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Richmond Plight Lesson For Tam?

The headlines read "Richmond's school system is facing total disaster and collapse." The news articles continue "... community leaders cannot agree how to settle financial crisis"; "... lowest salary schedules in the state," and "... constantly increasing average class size."

The Richmond school district was unified in 1965 under extreme pressure from Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh and with the full support of high school teachers. As the result, an abortive district was formed, forcing amalgamation of eight divergent communities covering a large geographical area containing no commonality of interest and no effective system of transportation or communication.

Such a district was doomed to failure, no matter how competent and effective its staff might be!

Coupled with its financial plight, the Richmond district is also faced with "sanctions" imposed by the Association of Richmond Educators. This means that any teacher accepting employment in this troubled district will be ostracized and blackballed in his future effort to earn a livelihood.

The unification of the total "Tam" district, with its multitude of separate communities, as proposed by the Tamalpais Teachers Association, would also be doomed to mediocrity, probable disaster and collapse. . .

Neighbors Speak Up Against Bigotry

The headline in last night's (Jan. 8) Independent-Journal, "Lucas Valley Bigotry?" contained a typographical, if not an editorial, error: the question mark does not belong there. Certain forms of bigotry in Lucas Valley are a matter of fact, not of conjecture. The case of the Lanny Berry family is only one instance.

We are neighbors of the Bernys and want to express our dismay at the range of the court's comment, at least as it is reported in this article.

The legalities appear to have been satisfied, but the moral issue has not been. Judge (Hadden W.) Roth is quoted as stating that he will not tolerate violence, but in the context of the article, this appears to have been directed only to Mr. Berry.

An equally forceful protest should have been registered against the psychological violence the Bernys have been subjected to since their coming to this valley. It seems that, given the inadequacy of our laws, a man may be arrested for carrying an unloaded pistol (a detail overlooked in the reporting, by the way), but not for such destructive weaponry as epithets. . .

We, through the agency of the court, have taken away Lanny Berry's weapon. Are we willing to undertake his and his people's defense, and silence the really loaded weapons that have driven him to such as extreme action?

Studies Necessary, But Action, Too

After attending a Marin Transit Board meeting at the Civic Center on Jan. 6, I reached the following conclusions. This board is making a conscientious effort to improve the bad transport situation that now exists in Marin. Many proposals are now in the study stage including a water study, using one lane of Highway 101 for buses only, exploring the possibility of using the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way for rail rapid transit, and others too numerous to mention.

It was my impression from the meeting that no plan to date has yet reached a practical stage although the transit board has been in existence for some time.

Studies are necessary but action is also equally necessary. Unfortunately the transportation problem grows worse daily in Marin and this problem will never be solved if transport planning does not progress past the study stage. . .

"Why, I'll bet," snorted one, "that you can't even recite the Lord's Prayer." The buck I can't," croaked the other. "It begins, 'Now I lay me down to sleep.' ### Enigma Of Eugene McCarthy Based Principally On Fiction

Marquis Childs is on vacation

WASHINGTON — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy is becoming a frustratingly enigmatic legend to his own followers and even to his far more perceptive Senate colleagues. To paraphrase a popular book of some years ago called "What Makes Sammy Run?", the question here is what it is that makes Gene perform so far out of the pattern of character which his late idolators had been pleased to assign to him.

The short answer is that this was a Eugene McCarthy who never was. Still, it is one thing to return such an answer and quite another thing to explain and to justify it. For McCarthy's course over the last year or so has indeed seemed to many perfectly sensible men to be one of the extraordinary zigs and zags, of ups and downs, of ins and outs.

The first thing to say is that McCarthy's conduct is odd primarily to those who never understood him in the first place. The fiction was that because of his position on Vietnam he was surely a far-out liberal, if not actually a beatnik. The fact is that he never was so desperately liberal, taking public issues in their generality. He was in some respects, notably on race and finance, not a thousand miles away from being mildly conservative.

The fiction was that he was literally aghast with resentment of the supposedly antediluvian types who run the Senate and so would leap at the smallest chance to undo them. In fact, he was and is — and this he has now demonstrated — pretty tolerant of these types and pretty understanding of the hawks on Vietnam.

THE FICTION, particularly among a "student left" that was sometimes a mere dreary rabble, was that he was an absolutely new and unstained political man who had sprung from the forehead of secular sainthood. The fact is, if historic names are to be flung about here, that he was always a good deal closer to, say, Edmund Burke, than he ever was to, say, Sir Thomas More.

What, then, to say at the end? Well, again as an educated guess, the realities are about these: McCarthy entered the presidential contest not to win it but more to force a policy alteration; surely to offer an alternative to the powerful thrust of the late Robert Kennedy — and certainly not in any case to promote a New Left in whose persistently stereotyped thinking he was to be its new Messiah.

Castro's Problems Mount, But He Still Gets Cheers

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Ten years after when, in the midnight darkness, Fidel Castro succeeded Fulgencio Batista as Cuba's new dictator, he still has not delivered to the Cuban people the utopia he promised.

Yet on his 10th anniversary in power, when he could promise Cubans only that 1969 would be a "year of 18 months of hard work," and announce new sugar rationing, he still could draw cheers.

THE YEARS brought no great change in Castro. He still is the bearded revolutionary, second only to Red China's Mao Tse-tung in his determination to further the violent overthrow of capitalism, especially among his Latin American neighbors.

The Soviet Union and the East European bloc contribute an estimated $1 million per day to Cuba's support. Yet he has declared he feels closer to North Korea and North Vietnam than to any other of the Communist nations because, he says, they confirm his own devotion to the Mao theories.

Castro successfully has surrounded the economic blockade sponsored by the United States. He will continue to do so as long as the Soviets remain interested in maintaining Cuba as a show case in the Western Hemisphere.

But his anniversary speech gave evidence of mounting problems.

duction at 7 million tons and 1968 at 8 million.

Actual production came to about 5 million tons in each of those years. A goal of 10 million tons was set for 1970.

The speech also confirmed what long had been apparent, the indefinite postponement of Castro's plans for massive industrialization.

The 1962-63 development program had promised a 1.5 million-ton capacity steel mill and an automotive plant. Both are forgotten.

Church 'Coffee House' Helps Solve Hub City's Teen Needs

A church-sponsored coffee house is helping fill the gap the City of San Anselmo admittedly has in providing teenage recreational facilities.

Perhaps one reason it is becoming successful is that the sponsor, the First Presbyterian Church, doesn't require the youths to join the church or participate in any of its other activities.

Thus the teenager, sometimes known to resent demands on his or her free spirit, can handily enjoy the club so long as the few rules of operation are observed.

MANAGER OF the club, called the Third Rail Coffee House and located in the church basement is 28-year-old Norman E. Leach, a second-year student at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

He estimates that the center, started 22 months ago, now has 75 members. Age limits, he said, are not flexible, but should start with high school freshmen.

Leach said the club is self-supporting except for a small salary from the church for his efforts. Operating funds, said he, come from charges of 50 cents a person for Saturday night dances, and occasional larger dances with admission charged.

Too, there is income from the sale of refreshments. The church charges no rent.

LEACH SAID development of a program has come gradually. A committee of teenagers meets each Sunday at the coffee house to plan the week's activities, he said. The regular schedule includes a free "d-o-your-own-thing" session each Friday, and the Saturday night dance.

In addition, an experimental theater group now meets each Wednesday and Thursday under direction of two other seminary students, Jack Randall and Sara Peer. There is hope that guitar workshops, study groups, and card, chess and checker game sessions can be developed.

Leach said a recent experiment of opening the club after school hours on weekdays was abandoned because of poor attendance.

CLEAN-UP IS no problem, said he. A note goes up on the bulletin board when there is need of a cleaning committee. The volunteers are sufficient.

Leach said the unusual thing about the club is that, although many teenagers normally dislike going to places where there is planned activity, the program of the center is apparently its attraction.

He said the efforts of the City of San Anselmo to develop a teen center are welcome, that such a center likely wouldn't affect the Third Rail. There are plenty of teenagers in the area to utilize both clubs, said he. The more facilities, the better the situation.

Shed A Tear For Lyndon Dear; He's Great Now That He's Going

WASHINGTON — This is the first week in five years that you can't hear an unkind word about President Lyndon Baines Johnson. As he is preparing to leave office, his most ardent critics have changed their tunes, and it's hard to believe that they are talking about the same man they were discussing a year ago.

One of his toughest critics said at a party the other night. "He may have made mistakes, but you can't fault him on what he tried to do."

Another Johnson nonadmirer agreed. "If Nixon does half as well as Lyndon did, he'll be a good President."

"NIXON WON'T. They don't make presidents like L.B.J. any more."

"You know what I liked about Johnson?" another former anti-Johnson man said. "His style. He had a free-wheeling style which made you admire him. I think Nixon's biggest weakness is he has no style."

"You can say that again. Lyndon came from Texas, and at least you knew where he stood on the issues."

"You're right. You have no idea where Nixon stands on anything."

"Johnson really worked as President," said another man who used to get red when Lyndon's name was mentioned. "Maybe he had his faults, but he also had his strengths, and his strengths outnumbered his faults."

"Nixon's faults outnumber his strengths."

A LADY nodded her head. "I can't stand Nixon on TV. At least when you saw Johnson on TV you knew he was sincere."

The lady next to her agreed. "President Johnson had kind eyes and a sincere chin."

"He was good to the poor," I said, not wanting to look as if I had anything against Johnson.

"And he worried about the black people," a former McCarthy supporter said.

"Nixon won't hold a candle to him when it comes to what Johnson did for education."

"And don't forget the redwood trees in California," someone else said. "To this day, people don't know how Johnson saved the redwood trees."

"I THINK when I remember Johnson," said another person, "it will be for Medicare. You know Nixon won't do anything for sick people."

"Why should he? They aren't his people."

I tried to bring some balance back into the conversation.

"I guess if you'd have to fault Johnson at all, it would be in foreign affairs."

Everyone turned on me angrily.

"HE THOUGHT he was doing the right thing at the time."

"He was only following out the policies of Kennedy and Eisenhower."

"Do you think Nixon is going to do any better?"

I tried to recoup. "There'll never be another Lady Bird."

Another ex-Johnson hater said, "I'm going to miss the whole Johnson family, including Jack Valentine's daughter."

"Tricia will never be another Lynda Bird."

"And Julie will never be another Lucy."

I WAS STARTING to choke up. "I don't want him to go," I cried.

"None of us do," a former ADA president sobbed.

"The worst part is that he'll never know how we felt about him."

"Yeh, and Nixon won't even have the class to tell him."

Nixon Assured Raise; Taxes Gnaw Into It

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate completed Congressional action on the pay-raise measure on voice vote after a 54-minute debate and sent it to the White House to be signed by President Johnson.

His signature is certain, since Johnson was one of the originators of the idea.

The bill won't affect Johnson's pay because a President's salary can't be changed during his term.

Alioto Aides Defend Sewer System Plans

Mayor Joseph L. Alioto's lieutenants marched into the Marin County Civic Center yesterday and angrily denied that San Francisco is dragging its feet on improving its sewer system.

Thomas J. Mellon, chief administrative officer for San Francisco, and Myron Tatarian, public works director, vented their ire at a meeting of the Regional Water Quality Control Board, headed by Jerome B. Gilbert of Novato.

One target of their attack was an Independent-Journal editorial of last Nov. 5 headlined: "The City That Knows How Uses Bay for Cess Pool."

Without mentioning the I-J by name, Tatarian took umbrage at "the pointed editorial in a newspaper in one of the Bay Area counties, and I'm standing in that county now."

Tatarian declared he wrote a letter of reply to the newspaper (I-J), but only a portion was printed and the best parts were left out.

"The press will view the problems as they see it," snapped Gilbert. "The way to get favorable press reaction is to get the Baker Street plant built."

The Baker Street project is a pilot plant which San Francisco will build near St. Francis Yacht Club to treat the rainy weather sewer overflow that now pours into the bay. The $1,500,000 project will be aided by a $920,000 federal grant. Target date for completion of that plant is 1971, and the schedule for completing all such plants west of Pier 45 is 1981.

At the Dec. 18 meeting, board members declared that San Francisco "is not acting in good faith" in pursuing the Baker Street project and asked Alioto and other city officials to appear at yesterday's meeting.

Administrative officer Mellon said the mayor had a prior commitment and could not appear.

"I do not believe that the criticism and adverse publicity directed at San Francisco's efforts for pollution abatement is justified," declared Mellon.

He and Tatarian explained that time extensions requested by San Francisco were caused by factors beyond the city's control, such as construction problems.

Mellon assured board members that the main target dates for wet-weather pollution control—master plan in 1971 and completion in 1981—will be met.

On construction of dry weather facilities, San Francisco will meet the 1975 completion date, subject to passage of necessary bond issues, said Mellon.

One of the dry weather facilities which San Francisco plans to build is a relocated outfall line from Islais Creek in southeast San Francisco to deep waters of the bay.

Panel Issues Warning On Sewer Flow

Novato Sanitary District is polluting the waters of Novato Creek and Petaluma River and must improve its treatment of sewer waste or extend its outfall line into deep water, an engineer for the Regional Water Quality Control Board declared yesterday.

Staff engineer Daniel F. Murphy gave that report to the Water Quality Control Board at a meeting at Marin Civic Center.

"They are no meeting present requirements," said Murphy. He added that tertiary treatment or an extension of the outfall line to deep water will be needed to meet requirements.

Murphy noted that Novato Creek and the Petaluma River are used extensively for water skiing, pleasure boating, fishing, marinas and shell fishing.

At the request of the Novato Sanitary District, the control board postponed action for another month to give the sanitary district time to study the pollution problem.

Chairman Jerome B. Gilbert turned the chair over to vice chairman Ercole Caroselli of San Francisco during the discussion of this item because he (Gilbert) is from Novato.

The Regional Water Quality Control Board also:

Teen-Ager Faces Burglary Count

A 17-year-old youth, Robert Leslie Jewett, was booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall yesterday for investigation of burglary, San Anselmo police reported today.

Officers said Jewett, of 22 Mariposa Avenue, San Anselmo, burgled the home of Harry J.

Cooper Jr., 435 Laurel Avenue, San Anselmo Monday.

Entry was by prying a sliding glass door, and loot included two wristwatches, 10 swimming medals, $25 cash, and a set of cuff links.

Police said they arrested Jewett at his home after receiving information that he committed the break-in. One watch was recovered, they said.
